PICKETS BLOCK PLANT OPENING

Galion Group Prevents Resumption of Work at Mt. Gilead Today.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Sept. 11 — The first attempt to reopen the North Electric Manufacturing Co. plant in Mt. Gilead, which has been out since Aug. 21 due to a strike of the workers at the Galion plant, was made yesterday and today when approximately 20 production workers attempted to return to work.

Company officials were attempting to find work for a few, but when pickets from the Galion factory arrived this morning and threatened one of the workers when he tried to enter, they decided it was unsafe to have the workers make any further attempt at entering the building.

The Galion factory pickets have blockaded the entrance to the plant here, and are carrying signs reading "North Electric On Strike —Stay Out."

Only the maintenance workers of the 250 persons employed at the plant, have been on the job since the shutdown three weeks ago.

Three company officials went to the common pleas court here this morning to liscuss the issuing of an injunction against the pickets. However, no action had been taken by the court at noon today. The leader of the group of pickets was quoted as saying that if the injunction was issued they would leave. In the meantime, the local police have ordered the pickets to "keep moving."

The Mt. Gilead plant, which is now at the end of the third week of the shutdown, was closed after the strike began at the Galion plant, as the Galion factory supplies the materials for the factory here. There has been no pickets of Mt. Gilead workers at the local plant.

Sheriff Tom England and his deputies are on hand at the plant today.

2,714 ENROLLED IN 14 COUNTY SCHOOLS

Total Shows Decline of Six from Last Year.

D. T. Mills, county school superintendent reported today that 2,714 pupils are enrolled in the 14 county schools. Total for the same day last year was 2,720, six more than the 947 figure. Mr. Hills said the drop in enrollment was due partly to the transfer of 13 pupils from the seventh, eighth and ninth grades of one-room Campbell school, west of Marion, to Central Junior High. Last year, the one-room school had pupils through the eighth grade, this year it is from the first through the sixth grades.

Attendance at the Prospect kindergarten last year was higher also. Last year 34 attended, this year there are 26.

Enrollment for the Marion public schools is still climbing, E. E. Holt, city superintendent reported. Total enrollment today was $5,733, a year ago it was 5,709.

Enrollment for each county school is as follows: Caledonia, 254; Claridon, 225; Grand Prairie, 124; Green Camp, 172; LaRue, 355; Campbell, 18; Meeker, 150; Morral. 172; New Bloomington, 178; Pleasant, 356; Prospect, 276 (kindergarten, 26); Kirkpatrick, 72; Martel, 133 and Waldo, 203.

GALION FIRMS CONSIDER OWN POWER PLAN

New Crisis Develops as Factories Propose To Generate Current.

Special to The Star

GALION, Sept. 11 — Galion's power crisis reached a climax, Wednesday, when four of the city's major manufacturing concerns announced that they had completed plans to supply their own electric power requirements if city council has not passed emergency legislation by Friday night of this week.

In view of this development City Council President Otto Pfeiffer today called a special meeting of council for Friday night.

In making a statement to the public and city officials, Wednesday afternoon, the manufacturers said they had been forced into a course of taking immediate action following failure of the city administration and councill to reach an agreement on means of improving service and increasing generation at the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant.

Statement from Plants

The statement from the manufacturers reads: "We have been working with the administration and council since last April 8 in an attempt to get relief through standby power from an outside source. The proposed ordinance was presented to council at last week's meeting and was voted down. We realized at that point that no relief was forthcoming from the city administration and council.

"Unless the city council has passed emergency legislation by Friday night of this week, giving the manufacturers relief by means of purchased outside power, we are prepared with quotations in hand to purchase necessary equipment to individually produce and supply our own power requirements in order to insure uninterrupted operation and steady employment.

"This decision was reached after full consideration. Realizing that the above action in manufacturing our own power will result in a revenue loss to the Galion Municipal light plant of approximately $100,000 annually, we are never-the-less forced to take this course as being the only way in which we can be assured of continuous operation and steady employment."

The manufacturers met Wednesday after learning that a special meeting of city council Tuesday night had further confused the power question with little chance to reach a solution during the remainder of the present administration.

At the special meeting of council Tuesday night an ordinance to employ a consulting engineer or engineers for the purpose of planning extensive improvement to the Galion light plant and to employ an architect to prepare plans to house the new diesel generating equipment which is already under contract, was given its first reading but defeated as an emergency measure by a 5 to 2 vote.

The four manufacturers who reached the decision to ask council's immediate action by Friday night are: Ralph E. Boyd, president of the Galion Iron Works & Manufacturing Co.; Harry Cobey, president of Perfection Steel Body Co.; C. R. Kammerer, executive vice president of Hercules Steel Products Corp.; G. L. Stiefel, president of Central Ohio Steel Productc Co.

Truman Faces Chore of Having To Call Congress To Beg Funds

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—President Truman faced the unhappy prospect today of having to call a special session of congress this fall to beg for an advance payment on the projected multi-billion dollar "Marshall plan" program.

Undenied are reports that Undersecretary of State William L. Clayton in Paris has urgently cabled that $2,500,000,000 will be needed "on the cuff" before the end of the year. It eventually would be fitted into the overall long-range program which is now being discussed in terms of about $20,000,000,000 over four years.

The President's secretary of state, George C. Marshall, who leaves tomorrow to continue his diplomatic war with Russia in person at the United Nations in New York, apparently has been convinced that there is no alternative to a special session. No other source of stop-gap aid is available except through new appropriations.

Sees Immediate Need

Marshall definitely is converted to the urgent need of immediate additional aid for Europe before the "Marshall plan" can be effective—despite some Republican charges that the European "crisis" is more alleged than real.

Mr. Truman will find it difficult to deny Marshall's request if Marshall still thinks as he does now on the President's return next week. Marshall is going to UN in an effort to consolidate western Europe and much of the rest of the world behind U. S. leadership. A key nation in that consolidation effort will be France which is urgently appealing for quick dollar help.

Against that, however, he will face a large portion of congress which is not only hostile to a special session but especially to any more blank check "crisis" appropriations. It took congress many months to approve only $400,000,000 for Greece and Turkey.

Goes Against Promise

Mr. Truman's job—if he issues a special call on the eve of an election year—will be expecially unpleasant because before congress quit this summer, the administration assured the Republican dominated congress that there would be:

►No more relief appropriations for Europe this year.

►No more "piecemeal" aid for Europe. Henceforth, it was said, everything would be included in a broad overall reconstruction rather than relief program.

►No need for a special session.

That occurred while the European "crisis" was brewing. But things have changed abruptly since then, and for the worse.

Must Talk Fast

Whatever happens, the state department will have to do some convincing talking to congress to get an advance. Senate President Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich) as good a friend of administration foreign policy as there

Sound Recordings Used in Marion Co. Court Prove Successful; Believed To Be First in U. S.

By WILLIAM D. STANBRO

Sound recording of courtroom procedings is operating as a modern innovation in Marion county common pleas court.

Use of these recordings to aid the court stenographer, attorneys and judge in expediting cases on the court docket is believed to be the first instance of sound recordings put to such use in a courtroom anywhere.

The sound-recording system was placed in operation in April of this year for the first time. Before the court adjourned transcriptions of several dozen cases were made.

Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith says the results have been "highly satisfactory."

Description of Equipment

Equipment used includes two recording machines, six microphones and an amplifier. The recording machines are the standard commercial type commonly used in office and business establishments where transcriptions of business data, etc., are part of regular office work. The machines are equipped with dual "heads." One records and the other plays back the record if desired without removing the record from the machine. Two machines are used so that recording may be continuous. When one record is filled the second machine is switched into operation while a new record is placed on the first machine. Records are made of vinylite, a plastic composition, very thin and of approximately eight inches in diameter. A complete case may be transcribed and contained in a relatively small file for reference.

The microphones, also standard commercial equipment, are placed at the most effective locations throughout the courtroom so that all pertinent conversation and statements may be recorded. One is placed on the bench, one attached to the witness stand, one on each of the counsel tables and two that may be moved about in the general area between the bench and the jury box. It was found by experiment that this number of "mikes" was needed to obtain complete audibility from all points, as acoustics in the county courtroom are poor.

An amplifier is used to step up the regular circuit power to activate the recording machines. When in use the machines are "monitored" by Clerk of Courts Calvin Oborn so that microphone reception is adequate at all times thus assuring clear recordings.

The idea for use of sound recording in court proceedings is credited to Judge Smith. He had obtained a recording outfit to use in his chambers in routine work. Finding the method expeditious in aiding to clear up a large backlog of judicial matter, the judge reasoned that it might also be of value in the courtroom.

He conferred with Clerk of Courts Oborn, who had the benefit of technical information on sound equipment gained through experience with radar while in the Army. The judge explained to Mr. Oborn the nature of the idea and installation technicalities were taken care of by the court clerk.

Advantages of sound recording court proceedings are numerous, Judge Smith explained. First of all, it serves as an aid to the court stenographer who may by listening to the recording of the proceedings in a case or any portion of testimony, obtain the exact wording of any conversation which he may wish to recheck. Any "human element" of error is eliminated.

Helpful to Attorneys

Also, recording of proceedings may be of value to attorneys handling cases. In proceedings of considerable duration, attorneys by playing back any particular recording may refresh their memory on testimony given the previous day and thus be helped in presenting their side of the case most effectively. The recordings give positive and unquestionably accurate reviews of previous proceedings.

Further, it is pointed out that sound recordings have the advantage of not only giving what was said but how it was said. The manner in which a statement is made often gives an indication as to the weight it carries, court authorities say. Experienced attorneys are quick to catch an inflection of the voice that may denote uncertainty on the part of a witness, for example a circumstance of that sort may have been overlooked when testimony was being given but on a re-check might be spotted, followed up and ultimately prove to be the turning point in the case. Written notes,

TWO COUNTIES SEND PROTEST ON RIVER PLAN

Marion and Wyandot County Groups To Attend Conservancy Hearing.

A delegation of Marion and Wyandot county property owners, headed by Russel C. Price, Wyandot county prosecutor, plans to appear before the 17-judge district conservancy court in Columbus tomorrow to argue against an extension of power for the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy district. They also will protest what Price called an "unofficial rumor" that the conservancy district was planning to build a reservoir which would inundate some 29,000 acres of productive farm land in the two counties.

Price said it was hoped to have 10 to 15 carloads of farmers present at the hearing.

E. W. Dillon, counsel for the conservancy district, said the court, composed of the common pleas judges of the 17 counties in the valleys of the two rivers, was called only to amend its charter to authorize it to investigate problems of water supply and sewage disposal along with flood control. An amendment to the state conservancy law in 1937 makes this possible.

The protest association contends, Price said, that the Summit reservoir might be part of this —a water supply for downstream cities such as Fremont on the Sandusky and Columbus on the Scioto. The lake would cover 45 square miles, he says, storing water over 13,000 acres in four Marion county townships and 16,000 in the southern half of Wyandot county, including the villages of Little Sandusky and Marseilles. Little Sandusky and Marseilles.

Say No Plan Adopted

Officials of the conservancy-district insist that no official plan including such a reservoir has been worked out, that only preliminary surveys and investigations are being conducted by its engineering staff, and no one knows what the final recommendations will be.

In a recent talk to the Marion Rotary club, an engineer for the Scioto-Sandusky district said the reservoir was not favored and probably would not get beyond the talking stage.

A tax levy of three-tenths of a mill has been placed on all property in the district this year to raise funds necessary to start work on the project. The levy will produce about $300,000.

Included in the district are Marion, Delaware, Union, Madison, Franklin, Pickaway, Ross, Fayette, Crawford, Scito, Sandusky, Seneca, Wyandot, Morrow, Pike, Vinton and Highland counties. A judge from each county sits on the district court, with Judge Myron B. Gessaman of Franklin County as presiding judge.

Most Land Productive

Little of the Land involved would be "marginal," the protest association asserts, and most of it highly productive farm land, and covering it would not only take it out of production but off the

RAILWAYS LOSE PRICE BATTLE

Commission Continues Hearings on Increasing Freight Rates 10 Per Cent.

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—The railroads lost the first battle in seeking an immediate 10 per cent increase in freight rates when the interstate commerce commission today decided to hold further hearings on the rate boost request.

ICC Chairman Clyde B. Aitchison announced at the outset of today's hearing that the railroads will be permitted to present testimony on the emergency 10 per cent increase until Sunday.

Opponents of the boost will give their side of the argument the first three days of next week.

The railroads had requested an immediate decision on the 10 per cent increase while suggesting that further time be given to their petition for an additional 17 per cent hike.

Aitchison announced that the railroads and those opposing the rate increase will make oral arguments next Thursday winding up the first phase of the railroads' demands for an overall 27 per cent freight rate increase.

At the same time Aitchison said that after Thursday hearings will be held in Washington and in other major railroad districts on the 17 per cent freight rate increase.

The ICC chairman, in making the ruling, characterized the railroad petition as of "great importance" and would affect the "economy of 140 million Americans."

The railroads based the emergency nature of the increase on recently awarded wage increases given non-operating employes and on a price boost in coal.

AKRON CALLS SECOND POLIO CONFERENCE

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Sept. 11 — Public health experts were asked to confer again today on Akron's 234 cases of infantile paralysis in a meeting with members of a mayor - appointed investigating committee.

The invitation was extended to Ohio Health Director John D. Porterfield and Herschel Engler, U. S. public health service engineer, following a consultation with local officials last night.

After the meeting, City Health Director M. D. Alles said:

"Neither of the two men, both specialists, suggested any steps we have not taken.

"I would like them to talk to the mayor's group tomorrow and explain the situation to them."

Meantime city employes were spraying streets and garbage cans with DDT, a measure that drew this comment from Alles:

"DDT is good in that it raises the general state of public health, but there is no evidence that it would stop, or even hinder, a polio outbreak."

World Series Tentatively Set for September 30

TWO DIE WHEN TRAIN HITS CAR NEAR IBERIA

Bruce Williams and Mrs. Nina Williams Victims of Crash Today.

A Morrow county couple met violent death in an auto-train accident at the New York Central crossing of state route 100, approximately two miles north of Iberia, in Morrow county this morning at about 7:30, according to a report by the state highway patrol.

Dead are Bruce Williams, 70, and Mrs. Nina Williams, 64, of near Iberia.

The couple had previously been married and divorced and recently had made plans to be remarried.

Their car was demolished when hit by an eastbound Erie baggage and express train and bodies of both victims were badly mangled. Mrs. Williams was driving. The Morrow county coroner had not completed his investigation this morning.

Enroute To Visit Friend

They were on their way to the home of a friend, L. B. Kerr, who lives near the crossing.

The bodies were taken to the Volk funeral home in Galion by the Snyder ambulance of Galion.

The train, which hit the car was the Erie's number 12. The accident occurred at a New York Central crossing, because both Erie and N.Y.C. trains use the same right-of-way between Marion and Galion. C. G. Covault of 519 Pearl street was train conductor and O. D. Hummer of 438 Silver street was engineer.

The crossing is marked with standard railroad crossing markers, but has no flasher warning system, because traffic is not heavy on the route, according to the Erie dispatcher.

Two Sons Survive

Both were long time residents of Morrow county. She was born in Galion April 30, 1884, and he in Morrow county in September of 1877.

Two sons, Walter of Columbus and Lloyd of near Fulton, survive.

Three sisters, Mrs. Thomas Noblit of Galion, Mrs. Richard Taylor of Galion, and Mrs. Mildred Daley of Dayton, survive Mrs. Williams.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed this afternoon.

Italian Lancia Cars To Be Sold in U. S. At Varying Prices

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—Italy's well-known Lancia motor cars now are being marketed in the United States.

Austrian-born M. E. Hoffman, who recently established the Hoffman Motor Car Co. here as distributor of foreign-built automobiles, announced he had been designated American agent for the Lancia and Co. motor plants at Turin, Italy.

Hoffman, who said he had been a motor car dealer in Europe for 25 years before coming to the United States, announced he would formally introduce the Italian models at a show when a shipment of cars arrives soon.

Hoffman said Lancia cars, featuring frameless models—in which frame and body are welded into one piece—and independent suspension on all four wheels, would sell in the United States for an average of $7,000 to $8,800 for custom-built models and from $3,680 to $5,000 for stock models, delivered.

One deluxe model, the "Pinin-Farina" special convertible, will sell here for $11,500.

ARMY PLANE CRASH COSTS LIVES OF 3

DENVER, Sept. 11—An Army C-47, twin-engined cargo plane with a crew of three aboard crashed 30 miles south of Denver early today, public relations officers at Lowry field reported.

They said the three were killed when the transport crashed into Spruce mountain near the town of Castle Rock.

Wreckage of the aircraft, bound from Hobbs, N. M., to Lowry field, was found by Sheriff John Hammond of Castle Rock.

Hammond told The Associated Press he found the plane at 8 a. m. after it was reported to him by a bus driver who saw it from the heavily-traveled Denver-Colorado Springs highway.

The sheriff said the plane struck a sheer rock bluff on Spruce mountain a scant 500 yards from the highway.

Hammond estimated the plane crashed late last night during a wind and rain storm.

2 Escape Injury In Upper Truck-Auto Crash

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Sept. 11—The drivers escaped injury but both vehicles were badly damaged in a truck car collision at the the intersection of Wyandot avenue and Eighth street here Wednesday.

A large truck loaded with cast iron sewer pipe and driven by Chester Rederick of West Lafayette, O., was going west. Darvin C. Foucht of nearby Harpster was traveling south in a '36 Ford coach.

Police said both were apparently crossing the intersection on the amber change of the traffic light. The impact tipped the truck over and spilled the load of pipe. A portion of the load rolled over on the car.

Red-Faced U. S. Steel Admits Firm Can't Get Own Product

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—Let us consider the red-faced embarrassment of the United States Steel Co., which has a low opinion of plain, ordinary wood for building purposes.

One of its subsidiaries is doing a land-office business in prefabricated houses, which it turns out something like automobiles, delivers to the customer's lot, and erects in a twinkle. With a serial number stamped on the kitchen wall, a written guarantee and six months free service.

The firm is whipping up a number of these houses on the outskirts of Washington, and handsome they are, too. I know because I went out to see 'em. The model house, with the modern furniture lent for the occasion by a local store, I examined carefully. I even climped down into the cellar there—to my amazement—was a big wooden beam holding up the floor.

Can't Get Steel

"Yep," confessed the United States Steel Co., man, hanging his head. "Wood. We just can't get the steel."

He said maybe I'd also noticed the wooden stairs I'd descended. Purely temporary. As soon as the United States Steel Co., can get some steel it'll replace those steps with metal ones. The corporation is asking its customers please, to be patient.

And when the biggest steel company in the world can't get steel to put on its own houses, you can be sure things are tough all over in the building trades. How tough, a joint committee of the senate and the house now is in progress of finding out.

Senators Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin, and John J. Sparkman of Alabama ,along with Rep. Ralph H. Gamble of New York, cut their vacations to open what we politicians call a probe into the housing shortage.

At their first session they called in a dozen federal big-wigs, representing as many agencies having to do with houses, to find out what the government can do. This session was as surprising, almost, as the wooden beams in the steel company house.

Sen. McCarthy said first off the government's folks should explain the workings of each federal outfit so the people can get some idea of their jobs. Raymond Foley, administrator of the federal housing agency, offered to get up a chart showing the work of each alphabetical agency.

And another thing, the senator added: why can't the government get together with itself on what a house is worth?

Appraiser Very

It turned out that the appraiser of the federal housing agency takes a look at a small house and says it is worth $7,500. Then the GI, buyer goes to the veterans administration loan division. It sends out another appraiser who says the same house is worth $10,000.

This, said Sen. McCarthy, is confusing. How come? Well sir, said Foley, his bureau valued a house at its long-term worth, while the vet appraisers figured on what it would cost to rebuild it if it burned down. Very simple, he said. Long-term values vs. present day costs.

This didn't sound simple to the senator. He said the boys ought to agree on what a house is worth and not draw long-suffering GI's into their arguments. The bureau chiefs in charge of buildings, labor, codes, and shortages, then spent the day telling choir stories.

They agreed (you listening, U. S. Corp?) that what this country needs most are old-fashioned nails to drive into (sob) wooden planks.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Presidential Timber

A STURDY oak in the stand of presidential timber has come into sharper outline. The man responsible is Roy A. Roberts, publisher of The Kansas City Star. In an article for his paper, Mr. Roberts says Gen. Eisenhower is being "absolutely honest" when he says he doesn't want to be president, but if, for the first time in history there was an honest-to-God draft that came from the people without conniving or intrigue, I believe the general would accept." And if he did accept he "would make a campaign that would set the country afire."

Gen. Eisenhower is keeping silent, except to reiterate his disavowal of presidential ambitions. Until he goes on inactive duty in January those are the only statements that would be appropriate for him.

It is easily conceivable that the Republican nomination might go to Gen. Eisenhower whether or not he makes a campaign. A convention deadlocked with two or more major candidates might readily swing to such a popular, confidence-inspiring figure. Unless he makes the final, unequivocal, irrevocable disavowal of presidential ambitions once made by Gen. Sherman, he is a very definite possibility, no matter what he says.

No Change

IT would have been sensational news if the CIO candidate had carried Pennsylvania's 8th congressional district in Tuesday's special election. But he didn't.

It isn't sensational that the Republican candidate won, instead. Except for three times during the early New Deal, Republicans have been as safe in the 8th as Democrats in Mississippi. Apparently, Pennsylvania isn't ready to buy the CIO bill of goods; even in the strongest districts, CIO struggled to approach a majority.

This was an important trial. CIO gave the 8th all it could muster, including a good candidate. It hoped to prove it had Republicans on the run and that Democrats should cuddle up to it the way they did during the New Deal coalition. It hoped to prove to the country at large that when it roared threats of revenge against those who believed in the Taft-Hartley act they should fall dead—but they didn't.

When politicians have studied the returns from the 8th, a few more of the bolder ones may reach the same conclusion that the bolder ones have been reaching since before last November—that bloc-voting by unionists is a myth. Union leaders have supported the myth because it gave them a club to use on politicians. But when unionists voted as a solid minority, it was because they were sold on the same point of view, not because union leaders told them how to vote.

It looks as if unionists in Pennsylvania's 8th district were not sold on the same point of view. It looks as if they voted according to divergent opinions about the CIO. The Republican candidate ran about average. The CIO candidate did no better than the opposition usually does despite a lot of money and effort.

Public Relations

THE little girl is lonesome, so she leaves a note for the postman asking him to find a letter-writer for her. The note goes to Postmaster General Hannegan, who writes her a cordial letter.

The boy who for years has waved to the crews of trains passing his home is invited to make a trip in an engine cab and have lunch with the president of the line.

The bank president goes into the teller's cage to accept the deposit of the youngster who has saved 10,000 pennies.

Princess Elizabeth's lady-in-waiting writes a friendly letter to the midwestern woman who may or may not have been saracastic when she offered the princess and her fiance an apartment because she didn't want to see them develop in-law troubles.

The human touch is in fashion. Ivory towers are being dismantled Institutions are being humanized. Big shots are readily admitting they get into their trousers one leg at a time. All this comes under the heading of public relations and it makes good news copy.

A Short Ride To Town

APPROVAL by the CAB of helicopter service from Cleveland airport to the downtown area marks a new phase in air travel.

One of the great drawbacks in travel by air has been the fact most airports are so far from downtown areas it takes as much as an hour to reach them. Clevelanders have been heard to refer sardonically to their landing field as the Cleveland-Indiana airport. On some short flights more time is spent going to and from the airport than in the air.

With downtown air terminals in parks or on hotel roofs, the helicopter will make a fine talking-point for airlines operating into cities with this service.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Attlee's Resignation Would Bring Little Change.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—Stories out of Britain that Attlee will quit have not been highly regarded in officialdom here. State department people suspect London put the story out to ease public pressure against the Socialist government for its failures, and see nothing wrong with the health of the premier. They think the story was for publicity effect only, and say there is no chance of an election, so a change would not make much difference anyway, excepting as a British strategic internal political move of the Socialist party to save face and blame all past mistakes on the topman. Bevin as premier would offer no new character on policy, and Hugh Dalton as foreign minister would follow the charted Bevin course.

This is the official Washington point of view, privately exhibited. But in unofficial financial quarters, with close inside news pipelines into Britain, news now comes that the Attlee resignation is very likely to develop. Plight of Britain is so bad a sacrificial goat must be found And in these quarters, 'tis being said that while Bevin might not make much difference as premier, Hugh Dalton has definite Communist leanings. If Dalton gets the foreign ministry, it would be a threat to us, they say. These pipeline people seem to know Dalton a little better than the state department folk.

The Real Truth

The truth is British Socialist directors are not able to handle her economic plight. Her people are pressing and her politicians are taking another wrong turn to save themselves by building up anti-American sentiment.

That was all there was behind the Bevin proposal in his speech to the trade union congress (a sort of report of his stewardship to his party lieutenants). The Bevin notion may sound somewhat plausible offhand to the British public, and save Bevin some support in his own party, yet actually it is just another idea for us to give Britain untold billions more in goods. You can see it by working out the deal to its ultimate conclusion:

True, we have more than enough gold to meet federal reserve requirements. But if this gold is given or "loaned" under terms which are never to be met, theoretically Britain would use the gold to buy goods here, although she recently asked to be excused from her promise to use what gold and dollars she has to buy goods from us, and we permitted her to abandon her promise to give us preference in return for using our money. Now if she buys more goods here, she will pay for these in the same gold—our own gold—and ship it back to us.

Indeed the gold might never leave Fort Knox, as financial men know. Britain could just be given credit on our books, use the credit, and we would keep the gold. This is exactly the same as if we gave the British the goods free instead of the gold. The cost of the goods must come from somewhere and it can only come from the U. S. taxpayers, who are supposed to be rich in Britain, but are paying one-fourth of our national income today, one-fourth of every dollar they earn, on the average, to their federal government, and about one-third of all they earn in taxes to the federal, state and city governments.

U. S. Txpayer Carries Load

The American taxpayer has been carrying Britain since the first World War with loans which have never been paid. This has been going on for 30 years and is still going on, whereas the crux of the problem now is to get Britain and Europe to help themselves. The British miners are refusing to produce enough coal under their socialism, although they have plenty of coal in the ground. It is a challenge to any kind of sense for the British to buy coal from us with our own money—or with our own gold as Bevin now proposes——to make up for what the British miners will not produce under socialism. This is not a hypothetical but an actual example, as the latest strike of the British miners has caused predictions from Britain that again next winter she cannot mine enough coal from her ample underground supply to keep herself warm.

Britain's problem is to get her miners to work long enough under socialism to produce enough coal to keep her nation going. It is ridiculous for her Socialist union politicians to try to get our people to make up year after year whatever coal her miners will not produce, by promoting these little subterfuges like the proposed gold gift.

Is Bevin Kidding

Or Is Ernest Earnest?

British Foreign Secretary Bevin suggests that the U. S. increase world purchasing power by dividing up the Fort Knox gold.

There's this to be said for Mr. Bevin: It seems to be the heat, rather than his position, which has gone to his head.

Still, you can't help feeling that what the British need is not nationalization but rationalization.

Divide up the Fort Knox gold, indeed. It isn't enough that we should bail them out time and again . . . now they want us to give them our pump.

What do the British need with gold, anyhow. Let them learn to live on the installment plan as we do.

Secretary Bevin is a real liberal, all right . . . . with our money. But share the wealth, like charity, ought to begin at home.

Isotopes for All

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NOW that David Lilienthal's atomic energy commission has gone into the isotope business, using the frightening word "cancer" for public relations acceptance, I thought it a favorable moment to look over some wisdom on the atom.

The remarks which I cull were made in 1945 and 1946. In the heat of political battle, politicians make campaign statements which nobody takes seriously, not even the makers, but scientists are supposed to be objective persons who devote their lives to the search for truth. Dr. J. R. Oppenheimer, one of the best of the lot, testifying before congress, said.

". . . I don't know anything about the life of Russia, but if I were a Russian scientist and had this thing pulled as it was pulled, if I lived in a country which has just recently become one of the great powers and is very power sensitive and which has always prided itself on its science and on its technology, I would say: 'Boys, we had better get to it,' I think they will."

States His Fear

I do not know whether Dr. Oppenheimer expected them to go to it by science or theft. To date, the only evidence is theft. Dr. Vannevar Bush went Freudian and told the members of congress:

". . . One fear that I have is that someone, thinking that he had a new idea on this subject, might start experiments in an attic with the idea that he would develop a new commercial process, and the result might be that he developed so much radioactive energy from this fission process that he would sterilize, perhaps, all of the passersby. That is entirely possible."

Dr. Leo Szilard made this point:

"With reference to secrets, let me say that clearly the biggest secret was given away with the use of the atomic bomb. because knowing that such a bomb can be made is half of the secret . . ."

Einstein's View

The sage Albert Einstein pronounced:

"We shall not have the secret very long. I know it is argued that no other country has money enough to spend on the development of the atomic bomb, and this fact assures us the secret for a long time. It is a mistake often made in this country to measure things by the amount of money they cost. But other countries which had the materials and the men can apply them to the work of developing atomic power if they care to do so. For men and materials and the decision to use them, and not money, are all that is needed:"

That has not turned out to be true, for in spite of everything the sage said, the Russians have not produced a bomb. They have only produced a veto. Dr. Harold C. Urey, who seems to be the politician among scientists, said.

". . . Atomic bombs must not be made by any country, and they must not be stored any place in the world if we are to have any feeling of security in this or any other country on this all-too-small planet. We are making bombs and storing them and are thus a threat to other countries and are guilty of beginning the atomic armament race. If continued, it will lead to dire disaster."

Further, he said:

"Unless we can devise some plan to prevent the manufacture of atomic bombs we shall live in constant fear of sudden and violent death. A world of vast fear and apprehension will be our lot and that of our children."

Scared Scientists

You notice how everybody walks about quaking over the atomic bomb; in fact, most of the human race is no more conscious of its existence than they are of the microbes that fly through the air. Fear is not a normal characteristic of man; were it, he would never have experimented with berries or oysters or fire. Man is courageous and resilient and takes what comes in his stride.

The scientists apparently frightened themselves more than they did anyone else. Max Eastman put the case again the scared scientists so wisely:

"To surrender any fighting advantage to the acknowledged leader of a movement pledged to overthrow our government and destroy our liberty would be an act of disloyalty in a moral sense, even if performed by the government itself . . ."

U. S. Atlantic Alliance Fading

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THERE is a great disadvantage in a policy which seeks to "contain" the Soviet Union by attempting to make "unassailable barriers" out of the surrounding border states. They are admittedly weak. Now a weak ally is not an asset. It is a liability. It requires the diversion of power, money and prestige to support it and to maintain it.

These weak states are vulnerable. Yet the effort to defend them brings us no nearer to a decision and to a settlement of the main conflict. Worst of all, the effort to develop such an unnatural alliance of backward states must alienate the natural allies of the United States.

The natural allies of the United States are the nations of the Atlantic community; that is to say, the nations of western Europe and of the Americas. The Atlantic Ocean and the Mediterranean Sea, which is an arm of the Atlantic Ocean, unite them in a common strategic, economic and cultural system.

The chief components of the Atlantic community are the British Commonwealth of Nations, the Latin states on both sides of the Atlantic, the low countries and Switzerland, Scandinavia and the United States.

There exists a vital connection founded upon their military and political geography, the common traditions of western Christendom, and their economic, political, legal and moral institutions which, with all their variations and differences, have a common origin and have been shaped by much the same historic experience.

Now the policy of containment, is an attempt to organize an anti-Soviet alliance composed in the first instance of peoples that are either on the shadowy extremity of the Atlantic community, or are altogether outside it. The active proponents of the policy have been concerned immediately with the anti-Soviet parties and factions of eastern Europe, with the Greeks, the Turks, the Iranians, the Arabs and Afghans, and with the Chinese Nationalists.

Efforts Expanded

Instead of concentrating their attention and their efforts upon our old allies of the Atlantic community, the makers and the shapers of the policy of containment have for more than a year been reaching out for new allies on the perimeter of the Soviet Union.

This new coalition, as we can see only too clearly in Greece, in Iran, in the Arab states and in China, cannot in fact be made to coalesce. Instead of becoming an unassailable barrier against the Soviet power, this borderland is a seething stew of civil strife.

We have not succeeded in organizing the new and alien coalition of the Russian perimeter, and we have failed to consolidate, as the mounting crisis of western Europe and of Latin America shows, the old and familiar coalition of the Atlantic community.

Though impoverished and weakened, the nations of the Atlantic community are incomparably stronger, richer, more united and politically more democratic and mature than any of the nations of the Russian perimeter.

If the Soviet Union is, nevertheless, able to paralyze and disorganize them, then surely it can much more readily paralyze and disorganize the nations of the perimeter. They are already paralyzed and disorganized.

The failure of our diplomatic campaign in the borderlands, on which we have staked so much too much, has conjured up the specter of a third world war. The threat of a Russian-American war, arising out of the conflict in the borderlands, is dissolving the natural alliance of the Atlantic Community. For the British, the French, and all the other Europeans see that they are placed between the hammer and the anvil.

Plan Must Fail

They realize even if we do not realize it, that the policy of containment in the hope that the Soviet power will collapse by frustration, cannot be enforced and cannot be administered successfully, and that it must fail.

Either Russia will burst through the barriers which are supposed to contain her, and all of Europe will be at her mercy, or, at some point and at some time, the diplomatic war will become a full scale shooting war.

In either event Europe is lost. Either Europe falls under the domination of Russia, or Europe becomes the battlefield of a Russian-American war.

Because the policy of containment offers these intolerable alternatives to our old allies, the real aim of every European nation, including Great Britain, is to extricate itself from the Russian-American conflict.

And so in any prudent estimate of our world position, they are no longer to be counted as firm members of a coalition led by the United States against the Soviet Union. We must not deceive ourselves by supposing that we stand at the head of a worldwide coalition of democratic states in our conflict with the Soviet Union.

The aim of the leading democratic states of Europe and probably also of the Americas, is at best to hold the balance of power between Russia and America, and thus to become mediators of that conflict.

At worst, their aim is to isolate themselves in some kind of a neutrality which will spare them the dual catastrophe of being overrun by the Red Army and bombed by the American Air Forces.

They know that a policy of containment does not contain, that measures of "counterforce" are doomed to be too late and too little. That a policy of holding the line and hoping for the best, means the surrender of the strategic initiative, the dispersion of our forces without prospect of a decision and a settlement, and in the end, a war which, once begun, would be most difficult to conclude.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Book Review: Any Phone Directory

Here, by any standards, is one of the season's books most likely to find a wide following. Peopled with a diversity of characters who move through its pages touching all fields of life in a great city, it sustains interest throughout.

Romance, business, drama and comedy stalk its pages and within its covers you will find the full catalouge of humanity from the A.A.A. Associated Bedding Co. to Zysman Sophie.

The dominate note is suspense, for one never knows on what page or line he will encounter something that will stir his emotions and arouse his feelings to the very heights of human endurance. (Personally we hadn't turned a page before we ran into situations that raised our blood pressure 30 points.) While not precisely a mystery book, the use of it will often leave a reader wondering not only where the characters are, but where he himself is, and if so, to what purpose.

For background this remarkable book tells the fascinating story of a powreful order known by the initials "A. T. and T." and the magic of its influence on the lives and interests of a whole people. The spell of its leading characters DIALTONE, SIGNALLE and the quaint Egyptian IZZ AT YEW never lets you go. The heroine is the attractive but exasperating and often elusive beauty known to her admirers only as RITA NUMBBAH, and it is the unending and hectic pursuit of her that enlives the pages at every turn.

Frequently this little lady seems to be at bay and almost in hand, only to slip away in a confusion of strange noises, mysterious buzzes and distressed cries of "Gimme the complaint operator!"

The story is not without humor, notably in the incidents wherein Mr. Wickham Jones is known to be sitting directly there when a call comes on the phone but the secretary's response to "Is Mr. Jones there?" is always and without exception the curious "Who is calling please?" followed by "Mr. Jones is on a trip up Mount Everest."

The culminating "That's funny; I saw him twenty-minutes ago" and the combined efforts of Jones and his secretary to make it appear it must have been three other persons add to the good clean fun, if easily amused.

Throughout there is the mood of the hunt. It is fast moving, tense and has what might be called a ringing quality. In brief the Telephone Book has an appeal to people on all levels, is lucid and logical and while the reader will encounter many disappointments, it is assured of a wide audience. It is definitely a "must," whatever your reading tastes may be. The volume is a selection by the Book of the Month Club and the Wrong Number of the Hour League. Hollywood is reported bidding for the picture rights and will call it, of course, not the Phone Directory, but either, "Desire Under the Busy Signal" or "Murder in the Coin Slot."

CAN YOU REMEMBER —

Away back when it was hard to find an American not glad to swear that he was not a Communist and never had been?

"General Eisenhower makes record catch of trout."—News item.

Up around Morningside Heights, N. Y., there is a feeling he should limit himself to the Columbia salmon.

The I.C.C. has given permission to the Pullman Company to jack up sleeping car rates as high as 49 per cent. That's fair enough. Where else can a man stay awake all night any cheaper?

The increased rates will mean $13,000,000 to the Pullman corporation. Perhaps the ICC members were moved to tears by the thought of a sleeper service not getting more dough for all the fun the traveling public gets climbing up ladders, taking its pants off upside down, feeling in the hammock every few minutes to see if the wallet is still there and guessing whether the brakes are being operated by a locomotive engineer or by Abbott and Costello.

The Letdown

By TRUMAN TWILL

That experience of meeting readers who take long, wide-eyed looks and say, in the manner of children who have just heard there's no Santa Claus or Britons who've been told there's no more U. S. money coming. "Oh,"—well, we've had it again.

No matter how often it happens, it makes us feel apologetic. We want to clear our throat and explain Why Truman Twill does not look like Clark Gable, Van Johnson, or even William Bendix. We want to point out, earnestly and patiently, that it isn't fair for readers to decide what a person who writes little pieces about matters of no importance looks like, then to murmur, "Oh" when he doesn't look like that.

In some quarters, at various stages of the career in which we skyrocketed from childhood to adolescence to manhood and now are whizzing along toward senility, there have been persons kind enough not to say "Oh" but "Ah." Some of these were close relatives. Others had a more objective joint of view.

There is one picture of the little man at the age of 5 that borders on cuteness. He was wearing a cartwheel hat, an all-white sailor suit, high button-shoes and holding the handle of a new wagon which legend says was painted red. He looks like a happy little refugee.

There is a photograph of the high school student that shows him with a thick head of hair, a ready-tied bow tie and a boyish cast of countenance; some have been kind enough to say this is a pretty good picture—the wholesome type.

There is a snapshot of the man —mature version—in outdoor attire on a camping trip. This picture, some have been kind enough to say, throws new light on the subject. They say they had no idea the old boy ever looked like that — competent, husky, abubble with health. Apparently something was peculiar about the light that day.

Moreover, it is a favorite thought that as a very old gaffer, if things hold together, we may be regarded as more interesting than the run-of-mine old gaffers. Ours will be the kind of face that photographers on the hunt for incredibly old characters might be interested in.

But these things are slight comfort. One cannot carry a bundle of photographs to support the statement that there were times when things looked better. One can't get involved in explanations about baldness, effect of the thyroid gland on weight and the handicaps of indoor work. Still one never get accustomed to hearing new acquaintances with preconceived notions of what Truman Twill should look like saying, "Oh" in that let-down tone of voice. Wouldn't it be just as easy to say, "It's not as bad as I thought it was going to be."

Cleopatra was not an Egyptian but a descendant of one of the Macedonian Greek generals who had come to Egypt in the army of Alexander the Great.

Sen. Taft Investigating Opinion of U. S. People

By The Associated Press

OGDEN, Utah, Sept. 11—Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) says he wants to find out "what the people are thinking" before he makes a definite decision on whether to become a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

The senator and his wife stopped here briefly last night enroute to San Francisco, where he will begin a tour of western states.

However, he said the "main purpose of my trip is to set forth the record of the Republican congress."

He interpreted the decisive victory in Pennsylvania's Eighth congressional district as additional "proof that employes favor the specific provisions" of the Taft-Hartley law.

BEVIN WANTS WARTIME AID

Newest Proposal Suggests U. S. Revive Old Lend-Lease Arrangement.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 11 — British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's latest proposal for solving Europe's economic ills is that the United States revive wartime lend-lease.

Last night he recalled his Sept. 3 suggestion that the U. S. redistribute the gold buried at Fort Knox, Ky., where it has stored some $12,500,000,000 of its $21,765,907,000 gold supply.

"I do not mind whether it is lease-lend or that," he went on. "But all I say is this—that you can't get settlement in the world unless we get these economic conditions right."

Told to Legion

His lend-lease idea, which he did not amplify, was tossed out in an address to Paul N. Griffith, immediate past national commander of the American Legion, and 135 other Legionnaires bound for European war cemeteries. The visitors were dinner guests of the British Legion.

"The United States have decided," Bevin said, "that we are the junior partner, that we are a third-rate power."

This was an evident reference to recent London newspaper stories that the U. S. state department, in a report to congressmen now in Europe, has classified Britain as no longer an "equal" in the big three.

"Let me say to you, my dear Americans," the foreign secretary declared, "We may be short of dollars * * * but we are not short of will. * * * We will win through. We won't let you down."

Need Congressional Action

Washington officials commented that lend-lease would not be resumed without authority from congress, which is not scheduled for a regular session till January, although talk of a special session now is circulating.

Top Corn Crop Hopes Killed

New Forecast Removes Likelihood of Revived Yield.

(Crop Forecast Story on Page 12)

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—The last hope that a revived corn crop might ease or remove the threat of less and costlier meat next year all but faded today.

With harvest time approaching, the government's latest forecast of the crop that will largely determine the size of the 1948 meat supply shaved more than 33,000,000 bushels off a yield already rated as the smallest since the disastrous 1936 drought.

The agriculture department yesterday put the figure at 2,403,913,000 bushels as of Sept. 1, a 27 per cent drop from last year's record output and the second consecutive decline since July 15.

See Livestock Flood

The immediate effect of the dropping yield and skyrocketing feed prices may be a flood of livestock to market.

If this happens, agriculture department officials said the increase in current supplies may bring prices down somewhat—but they decline to guess how much.

Next spring, however, farmers will have fewer cattle to sell for slaughter, and the animals they do market will be lighter weight—because of the shortage of corn.

Translated into retail prices, this indicates that if present demands for meat hold steady prices probably will hit new peaks.

In addition to the impact at home, the short corn crop outlook confronts the administration with the necessity of taking immediate stock of its efforts to avert hunger abroad.

Shipments to be Cut

Export specialists told a reporter there "is no doubt" that shipments to Europe and Asia "must now be materially reduced."

Last July 21, when it became apparent that the corn crop would fall short of the 2,850,000,000 bushels needed for domestic and foreign requirements, President Truman said that if the food price situation "should take on really serious proportions x x x plans should be readied well in advance of actual need to conserve supplies x x x."

The President mentioned the possibility of restoring restrictions on grain used by processors, adding "in any case the government should seek the voluntary cooperation of the grain trade."

Offsetting somewhat the gloomy corn outlook, yesterday's crop report said the wheat crop would hit a record 1,408,602,000 bushels. But this figure was a 19,000,000 bushel drop from the Aug. 1 estimate.

It is estimated 300 million people are stricken with malaria every year and of these 3,000,000 die.

BUS FARE TOKENS GO INTO USE MONDAY

To Be Seven for 50 Cents; Cash Fare 10 Cents.

Starting Monday the Marion Rapid Transit Co will inaugurate the token fare system on its bus service in the city, it was announced today by Sheldon Dodds, secretary-treasurer of the company. With the change tokens may be purchased in quantities of seven for 50 cents. Single cash fares will be 10 cents. The present cash fare is seven cents.

Improvement in time and service through the elimination of time required by operators of buses in making change will result from the change to the token system, officials believe and passengers will be relieved of having to either search pockets and purses for the odd pennies or wait while bus operators make change.

Ray Maag, president of the company, has completed negotiations with Meyer & Wenthe, token manufacturers of Chicago, to expedite delivery on the tokens and has been advised they will be ready for delivery by Monday. The tokens are of metal and slightly smaller than a 10-cent piece.

Highest temperatures in the southwest yesterday were 99 at Topeka, Kans., and Batesville, Ark., and 98 at Kansas City. Temperatures throughout the eastern section of the country were moderate, forecasters said, with little change predicted for today.

Expansion of Steel Production Called For

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Sept 11—The United Steel Workers (CIO) today urged an immediate expansion of steel production capacity, with the government building and leasing plants if necessary.

The union's views were expressed in a statement prepared for delivery before a senate small business subcommittee on steel by Otis Brubaker, USW research director.

Asserting that failure to expand steel capacity will mean "real depression and unemployment," Brubaker maintained that the industry itself should bear responsibility for increasing capacity.

tax duplicate. The lake would range from three to 30 feet in depth.

The conservancy district, through Dillon and its secretary, Allen Pretzman, replies in effect that the Summit reservoir is now and may be forever only a dream.

It was first proposed by the late Prof C E Sherman, a flood control authority who helped organize the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy district. He worked out "informal plans" for the reservoir, but army engineers, who build all flood control works eligible for federal aid, rejected the proposal "on the ground that the cost would not be equalled or exceeded by the benefits."

No authoritative estimate of the possible cost has been made, officials said.

Price, Spokesman for the Protest group, said a formal protest petition probably would be presented to the court "to give it something tangible to work on."

Officers of the Protest association are Lewis Anderson of Morral, president, Emerson McKelvy of near Marion, secretary, and Roy Anderson of LaRue, treasurer.

EGYPTIANS PUT ON RIOT AGAINST BRITISH

By The Associated Press

CAIRO, Sept. 11 — Egyptian crowds tried to set fire to the British consulate and destroyed the statue of Ferdinand de Lesseps, the French engineer who built the Suez canal, in violent demonstrations today against the United Nations security council's failure to order British troops out of Egypt.

The demonstrations occurred at Point Said, in the British-occupied canal zone, and at the coastal city of Alexandria. Cairo, for the most part, was quiet.

Demonstrators began marching through Port Said soon after news of the security council's failure to reach a decision in the British-Egyptian case became known, shouting "down with the security council, down with Britain, long live Egypt and the Sudan, long live Russia, Poland and Syria."

Egyptian police prevented the Port Said crowd from firing the British consulate there, after which the demonstrators proceeded to a British camp in Kitchener street, but Egyptian police surrounded the area and prevented a possible clash there.

Sex Education in Ohio Schools Recommended

Special to The Star

RUSSELLS POINT, O., Sept. 11 —A Cincinnati social hygiene worker declared today that grade schools should teach sex education and preparation for family living.

Roy E. Dickerson, representing the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers and the Cincinnati Social Hygiene association, said in a talk prepared for a state conference on school and community health education that schools must stop evading the natural questions of elementary and high school pupils on these subjects.

"Parents, school teachers and other community agencies must offer wholesome instructions to growing boys and girls when they seek it or else we will be faced with the greater problems of delinquency and mental disease which grow out of misinformation learned elsewhere," he said.

Fully qualified teachers are necessary to such a program, he added.

The meeting is sponsored by the state departments of health, welfare and education.

Coast Guard Seeks Cause of Boat Blast

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Sept 11 — A Coast Guard board of inquiry today delved into the causes of the blast and fire which destroyed the excursion steamer "Island Queen" at a river wharf here with probable loss of 20 lives.

The 13th body was recovered early today from the Monongahela river near the tangled, charred wreckage of the five-deck river vessel. That left seven members of the crew still missing with little hope they had survived Tuesday's disaster.

2,500 Marion Motorists Obtain Driving Permits

About 2,500 Marion drivers of an estimated 12,000 have been issued 1948 operators licenses at the license bureau, 224 North Main street, deputy registrar W. C. Bailey reported today.

With license sales still going too slow, Bailey warned that drivers should pick up their licenses early to avoid a rush as the Sept. 30 deadline approaches, after which 1947 licenses will be invalid.

Issue of drivers licenses began Sept 3.

BEER BALKS SUICIDE

By The United Press

NEW YORK — John Gunter teetered precariously on the edge of the roof of a 17-story apartment building and threatened the jump if police came nearer. Patrolman Joseph Dicicco offered him a beer and Gunter accepted. As Gunter handed back the empty glass, the patrolman grabbed his wrist and pulled him to safety. He was taken to a hospital for observation.

PROUD FIANCE. The man Miss America of 1947, Barbara Jo Walker, is engaged to wed is John V. Hummel (above), 23, of Charleston, Mo., a student at the University of Tennessee medical school in Memphis. When Hummel heard that Miss Walker, named Miss Memphis earlier in the year, had won the Atlantic City beauty contest, he said, "It's okay by me, but they should make me a judge next year. I can pick 'em quicker than they can."

Mark History of Iberia Church At Annual Homecoming Service

IBERIA — Outstanding at the annual Methodist Church Homecoming on Sunday was a church history given by Mrs W. Lee Rinehart who read the name of James Gilreuth as having preached the first sermon in the Village of Iberia in a cabin somewhere near the date of 1825.

Iberia was situated near the only highway from Delaware to the Wyandotte Missions and on northward to Detroit. The circuit included Delaware, Crawford and parts of Marion, Morrow and Wyandot counties. In 1832 Iberia was placed in the Wooster district and Abner Goff, G. Smith, and S. M. Allen were on the charge. Moses Arnold was the leader for services held in the James Dev's home which is now owned by Mr and Mrs Harold Rinehart.

The first church was built in 1840 to be removed and replaced by a new building in 1867. Former President Harding painted the church while attending Central College in 1882. In 1840 the church was included in the newly formed Mansfield District with Rev. William Hobson as pastor.

In 1921 the present church was redecorated and rededicated with former Gov. Meyers Y. Cooper giving the dedication speech.

Rev Norman Sommerville of Galion and Rev. Curtis of Orlando, Fla., spoke at the morning and evening sessions Sunday and Rev Robert Miller of Monroe, Ind., was the song leader. Special music was given by a mixed quartette from Martel and a male quartette from Mt Gilead.

Those attending from a distance were Edward Edgar and family of East Liverpool, Mr and Mrs Allen Mosier of Edison; Rev and Mrs. Robert Miller, Robert Dittmer of Monroe, Ind., Mrs J. Kenney of Shelby, Mr. and Mrs D. P. Pfleiderer, A. E. Pfleiderer of Bucyrus, Mr and Mrs. M. Holzinger, Cleveland; Mr and Mrs Clarence Craley and sons, Caledonia; Mr and Mrs. Earl Cooper, J. A. Kelley, Marion; Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Roesch, Clearwater, Fla.; Mr and Mrs I. M. Auld, Claridon; Mr and Mrs E. C. Gunther, Galion; Mr and Mrs Curtis Hoover, Shelby; Rev Lloyd Brush, Guy and Evangeline Klingel, Gene Rathburn, and Marvin Downs of Mt Gilead.

Of perhaps the greatest value, is the saving in time that recordings of proceedings provides for the judge. In many judicial matters a considerable length of time elapses from the institution of proceedings until decision is finally given by the judge. In reviews of cases where it is necessary to obtain a transcript of the court stenographers' notes, as much as a week often elapses before the material necessary may be secured by the judge. With recordings the material is available in a matter of minutes.

Many judges have the faculty of remembering in detail long and involved cases tried in their court. Others do not. As a means of bringing back into clear focus pertinent facts in a case and reaffirming points on which no doubt must remain, the sound recordings prove of unquestionable value, Judge Smith said.

Adopted in Summit County

The recording idea, which is without precedent in Ohio courts, as far as Judge Smith can ascertain, has already been instituted in the Summit county common pleas court in Akron. Presiding Judge Walter G. Wanamaker in a visit to Marion observed the system in operation this spring and is in the process of having a similar system installed in the Summit county courtroom.

Judge Smith is of the opinion that the time may come when sound transcription of proceedings will be an integral part of court procedure. The judicial system is based on precedent, with its machinery steeped in tradition. Changes do not occur over night, it was pointed out, but eventually the principle in operation in the Marion county court may be universally accepted, the judge believes.

Woman Answers Door, Reads Note, Drops Dead

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Sept. 11 — Mrs Vonda Mae Strayer, 30, mother of five, answered her door yesterday and read an alms note presented by a beggar, then screamed, slammed the door and ran to an adjoining room where she fell dead, Detective Capt John S. Strauzenski reported.

"Mrs Strayer could have died of a heart attack. There has been no criminal act committed, and the vagrant apparently is guilty only of begging," Strauzenski said.

Low Ceiling Troubles Plague Trolley Buyers

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 11 — Low ceiling can affect more than aviators, recent purchasers of discarded street cars have learned.

City and county building departments yesterday disclosed their regulations require seven feet to seven and one-half feet clearance between ceiling and floor in a dwelling.

The street cars which sold for $125 have only six feet six inches clearance and owners said if the department would not issue remodeling permits, the floors in the cars would be lowered.

"KING NEPTUNE" TREATS TRUMAN TO MILD HAZING

Aides Get Works, However, As Ship Crosses Equator.

By The Associated Press

ABOARD THE USS MISSOURI WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, Sept. 11—Top presidential assistants got the works, but President Truman was let off easy today in the traditional hazing ceremony at the crossing of the equator.

King Neptune, mythological god of the seas, only required Mr. Truman to make a speech to become a full fledged "shellback," instead of "a vile landblubber and polliwog."

Paddling, ducking and other indignities were saved for the presidential aides, such as John R. Steelman.

The Chief Executive was only one of some 1,600 on this battleship who faced the hazing which seagoing men inflict on shipmates who are not "shellbacks," or veterans of a passage over the line.

Mr. Truman gave the crews of the Missouri and escorting destroyers a "well done" yesterday for their conduct in Rio de Janeiro. He said "not a single discreditable incident occurred" and that the men had helped further the "good neighbor policy."

U.S. GAINING POWER IN WESTERN REICH

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept 11—The United States appears today to be moving into a new position of power and leadership in western Germany as a result of Britain's inability to pay her own way there.

This developing situation reflects the general growth of American influence throughout the European area due to the need for American dollars to buy the necessities of life and to pay for eventual reconstruction.

Fresh information on the way things are going in the Anglo-American zones of western Germany came to light in connection with the official announcement last night of plans to boost coal production in the Ruhr mines of Germany. Much greater output from these mines is regarded in both London and Washington as essential to economic recovery in Europe.

On at least four points, the coal production program shows that the United States is gaining a greater power of decision in the British zone of Germany.

The announcement of the coal production schedule was made at the end of the day in which Secretary of State Marshall gave new impetus to talk of a special session of congress late this year to provide emergency aid to Europe before the longer range Marshall recovery program can become effective.

Marshall said that some European nations face an immediate threat of hunger and cold this winter and will require American help to get through.

is in congress, is adamantly opposed to further blank check appropriations for piecemeal relief. His co-leader of the senate, Sen Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), is far from convinced that the proper information will be available on the foreign picture before the first of the year and the regular session.

Marshall envisages the advance for Europe as eventually becoming "part and parcel" of the long-range economic program. But he will have a difficult time convincing congress it won't be pouring more billions down the drain since it took the state department months to formulate a plan for spending the much smaller Greek-Turkish aid funds.

Marshall's request, as he put it in a formal news conference statement yesterday would amount to this having congress approve the Marshall plan in principle before seeing either the figures and plans drawn up by the 16 European nations on their needs, or the figures being gathered by U. S. committees which are supposed to show how much the U. S. can afford to spend.

EUROPE WANTS AID WORTH 19 BILLION

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Sept. 11 — A participant in the Paris economic conference says the 16 western European nations involved will seek slightly less than $19,000,000,000 in United States aid under the Marshall plan to enable them to buy food and productive equipment abroad in the next four years.

DELAWARE MEN COMPLAIN ABOUT 'PHONE SERVICE

Hearing before State Commission May Be Possibility.

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Sept 11—Three Delaware, O., officials have complained informally to the public utilities commission about telephone service in that city furnished by the Northern Ohio Telephone Company.

M. R. Weltner, assistant superintendent of the bureau of rates and services for the commission, said the officials discussed the service today and prepared to file a formal complaint, which must be answered or satisfied by the company within 50 days.

Weltner said that if the complaint were answered rather than satisfied, the matter would then be taken up for hearing before the commission.

The three officials were: G. F. Easterday, service director for the city, Richard L. Firestone, city solicitor; and Robert E. King, city auditor.

CIO Head Tells Taft "To Sound Out Ohio"

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 11 — As delegates began arriving today for the annual meeting of the Ohio CIO council, President Jack Kroll of Cincinnati put forth a suggestion that Sen. Robert A. Taft (R.-O) sound out his political chances here in Ohio.

Kroll, who also is director of the national CIO political action committee, said following a meeting of the CIO council's executive board that Taft "is sounding out his political chances in the west," and suggested that "he return to Ohio and take a poll among the rank and file of Ohio's people whom he has tried to shackle in the Taft-Hartley bill and in the destruction of price control with the resultant dollar-a-pound meat and butter."

He added that "such a poll of opinion in his own state would save Senator Taft the expense of that western tour, with the same results."

Kroll presided over preliminary sessions of the council's executive board. The three-day convention open tomorrow, with about 1,000 delegates expected. It will be followed on Monday by a meeting of central committees of the CIO political action committee.

More steel for you than ever before

Never in peacetime history have American steelworkers and mills turned out so much steel in so short a time

Here is the record of the steel industry for the first eight months of 1947:

Exceeded all previous peacetime performances.

Production of steel ingots since January 1 was 56 million tons—an annual rate of about 85 million tons. This is 60 per cent more production than was turned out during 1939, last prewar year.

Made more steel for more goods for you.

All records were smashed in shipments of flat-rolled steel to those making automobiles, refrigerators, bathtubs, kitchen cabinets and like products. At this rate the 1947 shipments of flat-rolled steel will exceed 1939 by 79 per cent.

Met major demands of an abnormal market.

Like your family pantry and wardrobe, shelves of American industry were depleted at the end of the war. Thousands of manufacturers wanted steel for their current needs. They also wanted steel to build up their low stocks of material. This war-created abnormal demand is being steadily met.

Although today the productive capacity of the American steel industry equals all of the rest of the world combined, the industry is not stopping there. Steel is spending a record total of nearly $450,000,000 in 1947 alone for new equipment and improvements. Even greater plans are in making for the future. Steel has never stood still.

This means more and better steel for you.

finite Rules Govern Conduct of Model Plane Contest at City Airport Sunday model airplane meet to be staged Sunday at the Marion al airport by the Marion Prop Busters and the Y's Men's club will include all recognized model events with the ex- of speed trials.

of the most interesting will be the free flight gas model on which is limited to aircraft powered by internal com- engines. These airplanes flown in A, B and C depending upon their en- placements, and the fliers pete in two age groups: up to 19 years, and sen- years and over.

gas powered ships must be with landing gear but hand launched without The engines are not used the plane during its en- but simply to carry it high enough to catch a thermal current or updraft. Engine runs can be either 15 or 20 seconds in duration with the decision resting upon the contest director, who is R. D. Blank. Mr. Blank said that southern breezes will be deemed favorable but that winds from the north will make it necessary to limit engine runs to 15 seconds in order to prevent planes drifting into railroad yards. Each engine will be equipped with a timer which will automatically shut off the engine at the time specified.

Allowed Three Planes

Contestants can have three airplanes and can use any or all to complete their three official flights. Timing will be done by stop watches — will begin when the plane is launched and end when the model touches the ground or any object preventing further flight or else passes out of the timer's vision. Scoring time is based on the total of the three flights.

Two types of rubber powered models will be flown Sunday—the "stick" or open framework design, and the "cabin" or fuselage model. Again the winner will be the flier with the highest total for three flights—an official flight being at least 40 seconds in duration. Flights of the "stick" models will be open to all entrants but competition in "cabin" craft will be divided into the two age groups—up to 19 years, and 19 years and over.

Tow-line gliders are non-powered planes that are towed into the air like kites. When the planes reach the maximum height possible with the 100-foot tow-lines the fliers then jerk their lines loose and the flight times officially begin. In this event the scoring time is the longest of three official flights (40 seconds or more).

Nine Flights

Nine flights are allowed with hand-launched gliders and any launching, regardless of flight time, is regarded as an official attempt. Scoring time will be based on the longest of the nine trials.

One section of the airport will be fenced off for gas engine control line stunt flying. In this event the contestants fly their planes in a circle and control them by means of two 70-foot steel lines attached to the wing surfaces. A list of authorized acrobatics and novelty flights will be posted at the field and each flier must turn in a complete flight plan to the judge before making his take-off. The more stunts an entrant executes, the more points he can amass.

The stunt list used Sunday will be the same as that employed at the national model meet held recently at Minneapolis. It includes unassisted take-offs, wing overs, vertical dives, inside and outside loops, inverted flights, various rolls, laying of smoke screens, balloon bursting, glider pick-up and even dive bombing. Points will be awarded for each stunt executed but will be on a graduated scale in accordance with the judge's opinion of the expertness and precision shown.

Sanctioned Meet

This meet has been sanctioned by the Academy of Model Aeronautics and should be attended by several hundred model airplane pilots from Ohio and neighboring states. More than $1,000 in trophies and prizes will be distributed with awards going to at least seven places in each event. The flying will officially start at 9 a. m. and will continue throughout the day without a break. Admission is free to spectators, parking facilities will be provided and refreshment stands will be located on the field.

A display of the various types of model airplanes that have been built by members of the Marion Prop Busters has been set up in a downtown store window. Some of these planes will be flown in Sunday's meet but, for the most part, the local fliers will be aiding the Y's Men in timing and judging the events. Additional model aircraft together with some of the prizes and trophies to be awarded at the close of the meet also are on display at another store.

The present roster of the Marion Prop Busters club reads as follows:

R. D. Blank, director, of near Marion; Everett Sanderson, president, of East Fairground street; Fred Schatzinger, secretary-treasurer, of 453 Olney avenue; Bob Quick, secretary (recorder) of Pleasant street; Ted Coutz of 1028 Uncapher avenue; Jim Kramer of 356 Uncapher avenue; Bill Trimpey of 308 Franklin street; Bill McJunkin of 659 Oak Grove avenue, Bob Parshall of 225 South High street.

SUGGESTS U.S. ACT IN BRITISH-JEW TIFF

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—Rep. Adolph J. Sabath, (D-Ill), urged today that the United States refuse further economic aid to Britain until she reopens Palestine to Jewish immigration.

At the same time, Rep. George H. Bender, (R-Ohio), criticized the Truman administration for its failure to condemn the recent forced debarkation by British troops of Jewish refugees at Hamburg, Germany.

In a letter to President Truman, Sabath also denounced the forced debarkation of the refugees.

He said the British government not only "has remained unmoved by the plight of the chief victims of the Nazi blood lust," but "has seemed bent on emulation of the Nazi fiends."

Bender charged that by its silence on the forced debarkation, the Truman administration "betrays our own great traditions and condones an outrage against the Jewish people which is in the worst traditions of Hitler."

Bender urged the President to advise the British, "carry out the UN committee recommendations: get out and stay out of Palestine."

Britain Called Good Bet To Win Through To Some Prosperity

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain's economic crisis has reached such a grave state that the London Daily Mail in editorializing on the disastrous Yorkshire coal strike declares it must stop because it could well lead to the complete economic collapse of the country.

That's a blunt but unexaggerated summary. The situation is so bad that it might well be described as "desperate" if that expression didn't connote despair — an emotion with which John Bull isn't familiar.

DewittMackenzie

It is six months ago that the Socialist government made its historic appeal to the country for further sacrifices to meet a catastrophe which was without precent in modern English history. The appeal declared that unless Britain concentrated on the really important things "we may never restore the foundations of our national life."

Situation Now Worse

Since those dark days the situation has worsened greatly. However, the government has kept reforming its battle lines, and a month ago the war-time leader, Winston Churchill, who is the Conservative anti-thesis of socialism, gave [illegible] and comfort to his political enemy by declaring that the British people would come through the crisis, no matter what the difficulties might be. Then a few days since, Foreign Secretary Bevin, in appealing for further efforts by workers, scored countries which "imagine, now and again, we are no longer a great nation," adding dramatically:

"Let them live in their fool's paradise. We are great. x x x I will not allow myself to believe that this generation is going to fail."

Are Churchill and Bevin justified in their optimism? Certainly they find much support among aconomic experts the world around. The general view seems to be that Britain will surmount this crisis. However, there is a qualification to the estimate (at least among foreign nations) and this is that while she will regain prosperity, she never again will return to the economic heights which she held half a century ago.

Palmy Days

Those were the palmy days when Britain (having few important natural resources of her own excepting coal) led the world in manufacture by importing raw materials from other countries, fabricating them, and exporting them again to the same countries — at a tidy profit. Then America was one of England's biggest customers. But those times are dead and gone.

That is a viewpoint recognized by many within the British commonwealth as well as by observers outside. And it isn't a brand-new thought. I recall, for instance running into it in a most unexpected place back in 1936. I was the guest of a die-hard British imperialist at his home, and during a conversation between the two of us one night he suddenly swung on me with:

"Did it ever occur to you that the British empire is on its way out, and that England herself will in due course become another Holland?"

Surprised at Statement

I was flabbergasted, and replied that while I had thought of the situation in those terms, I never expected to hear such an expression from him.

"Well, it's true," he retorted doggedly.

Since that time one has noted a growth of this general idea. However, we must qualify that by pointing out (1) that the British empire is being transformed into an equally cohesive commonwealth of nations, and (2) that Britain herself can, and probably will, return to great prosperity, though she scarcely can expect to rule the waves as she once did.

As the fighting Bevin said, Britain remains great.

Meat Cookery Demonstration

By Miss Helen Shepard

Friday, Sept. 12th, 2:30 P. M.

Terminal Bldg. W. Center St.

Timely, interesting and practical information concerning the preparation of meat for the table, its nutritive value, and how to use the available meat supplies to the best possible advantage will be featured.

Miss Shepard is a field home economist of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, an educational and research organization which represents the entire livestock and meat industry.

Drawing upon the results of meat cookery studies initiated by the Board and conducted by colleges, universities and the Department of Agriculture, she will demonstrate preparation of various meat cuts by methods best suited to those cuts — roasting, broiling, panbroiling, braising, simmering and frying.

She will stress the value of low temperature meat cookery in holding down meat shrinkage, simple and attractive way to serve meat, foods to serve with various meat dishes, building meals around meat, short cuts in food preparation, attractive ways for garnishing the meat dish, and the care of meat in the home.

Those attending will receive copies of the Board's meat recipe book, "The Symphony of Foods," which is filled with practical suggestions on the preparation of scores of beef, veal, pork and lamb dishes.

Retired Officers, EM May Handle VA Claims

Retired officers and enlisted men of the armed forces may now represent veterans in claims against the Veterans Administration as accredited representatives of the 68 national and state organizations authorized to file such claims.

The last session of congress passed a bill making them eligbile for this work. It became law upon the President's signature.

Heretofore, certain statutes prohibited retired members of the armed forces from serving in this capacity.

VA Provides Certain Job-Training Tools

The Veterans Administration will furnish tools necessary for a World War II veteran to learn a specific occupation while taking on-job training.

VA Branch Office officials in Columbus said the tools are available to veterans training under both the G.I. Bill and Public Law 16 (Vocational Rehabilitation Act for Disabled Veterans).

On-job training instructors and VA training officers determine which tools are required by a veteran. The tools must be for the exclusive use of the veteran and may be retained by him when he has completed his training. If the veteran discontinues his training without good cause, ownership of the tools reverts to VA.

Most common type of tools under this program are those used by trainees in automobile repair shops, building trades and farming, VA officials said.

Patients View Latest Movies in VA Hospitals

The showing of the latest motion pictures in Veterans Administration hospitals in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky is one of the most popular forms of entertainment for sick and injured war veterans.

Three shows, including a prerelease 35 mm feature picture, appropriate short subjects and current news reels, are shown three times weekly for the entertainmnt of patints in the VA hospitals. Attendance is limted to patients and attendants and no admission is charged.

Advance releases of the latest movies, on 16 mm film, are shown to bed-ridden patients on the wards.

Most of the hospitals have at least two shows on a scheduled day in the hospital auditorium, one for ambulatory patients and the other for bed-ridden or wheelchair patients who are moved into the auditorium to see the show.

Questions and Answers

Q. I would like to appear before a VA Rating Board in my own behalf concerning my disability claim. May I do this?

A. Yes, but a definite appointment should be made and you should be there at the time for which the hearing is designated.

Q. To what benefits is a man with a yellow or blue discharge entitled?

A. A yellow discharge from the Army is dishonorable and the veteran is not entitled to VA benefits. A yellow discharge from Navy service may be dishonorable or other than dishonorable. If dishonorable, the veteran is not eligible for benefits. If other than dishonorable, the veteran is entitled to file a claim and VA will determine whether the claimant is entitled to file a claim and VA will determine whether the claimant is entitled to benefits. The same procedure applies to blue discharges from the Army.

Q. Must a disabled veteran go to vocational school or may he go to a liberal arts college, a high school, or similar institutions under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act?

A. He may enroll in any VA-approved educational institution or training establishment offering the course of training which VA has found he needs to insure his proper rehabilitation in line with his own desires.

Radio Comedian Booked in Stage Show at Palace

A comedian known to millions of radio listeners as Ish Kabibble, and a young singing star, Russ Carlyle, who, with his orchestra, has made a name for himself in the popular music world, will make a personal appearance here on the stage of the Palace theater Wednesday, Sept 17, for both afternoon and evening performances.

Ish Kabibble's real-life name is Merwin Alton Bogue He became a comedian rather than a good trumpet player partly by way of an accident and partly because of his determination. Even Kay Kyser, his boss, with whom he became associated in the summer of 1931, had to be shown that the young musician had the precious gift of creating laughter

Recommended to Kyser by Hal Kemp, Ish was given his chance to be a comedian after a year with the band as a trumpeter He acquired the name of Ish Kabibble while with the band in 1933 He had become weary of singing "The Man on the Flying Trapeze," to which 35 special verses had been added for demanded encores, so he introduced "Ish Kabibble," a wacky song of a previous decade

Russ Carlyle, one of the newest singing stars in the popular music world, and his orchestra, played an engagement at the Palace three seasons ago and were well received at the time Featured vocalist with the orchestra is Mary Morgan.

RAILS CARRYING TOP PEACETIME TONNAGE

By The Associated Press

CHARLESTON, W Va, Sept 11—Railroads are carrying the greatest peacetime tonnage in the nation's history despite a shortage of freight cars, C R Megee of the Association of American Railroads said here yesterday

"Further," McGee told the Ohio Valley Transportation Advisory board, "The loadings for the first eight months of 1947 were greater than any comparable period during the war years, at which time the railroads were enthusiastically praised and acclaimed for what they were doing"

McGee, vice chairman of the association's car section division, spoke at the 83rd quarterly meeting of the advisory board composed of rail freight executives, shippers and producers from West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

Committees representing all industries and shippers using the railroads submitted reports which estimated they would need an overall total of 1,028,698 railroad cars of all types during the next three months to freight their products

The estimate was eight per cent higher than the 952,189 cars actually used in the final quarter of 1946 the urine contains a many different substances, of which come from the we eat. Others are waste ucts formed by digestion of s.

dinarily these substances re- in solution and are excreted the urine. Sometimes, how- they begin to separate out to solidify, forming kidney es which may be both painful dangerous.

ople often wonder just why ey stones form. Such things nfection, the amount of water n in and excreted, and the entration of minerals in the e, are the chief factors which ence the formation of kidney es. The stone may form nd a small bit of blood fibrin, clump of germs.

number of these factors can atisfactorily controlled. For mple, the infections can usual- e eliminated if they are dis- red early and promptly treat- infections of the urinary tract produced by a germ called Bacil- lus coli. Other infections can be cured with streptomycin or sulfonamide products.

e amount of acid, as well as amount of lime in the urine can be regulated.

e diet will contain more acid- — or alkaline-ash-forming s, depending upon whether it esirable to make the urine e or less acid.

e substance known as man- c acid can be used to control

Any condition which tends to block the flow of the urine from the kidney may be a contributing cause for stone formations.

Many of these causes require operative treatment. Careful examination of the urinary tract should precede such operations to determine just where the trouble is located. X-rays may be taken to aid in the diagnosis. Before the X-ray is taken, certain substances may be injected into a vein. These substances are secreted in the urine, and when the X-ray is taken, after such injections, all of the parts of the urinary tract are clearly outlined.

Insofar as getting rid of the stones is concerned, now and then the stone may be dissolved by the local application of a solution known as Suby's solution. Of course this treatment must be carried out by a doctor.

In most instances, surgical removal of the stones is necessary. In some instances, the stone can be removed by the physician working through a cystoscope, that is an instrument which can be passed into the bladder.

Of course, in each case the doctor will decide just what treatment should be applied. Very often the condition will require a combination of the methods outlined above, surgical removal of the stone plus drugs to clear up infection and special diets to prevent recurrence.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. B.: Will you please tell me what I may take for canker sores in my mouth?

Answer: It is thought that canker sores are due to sensitization to some one food. However, up to the present time the exact cause of canker sores has not been definitely determined; therefore, it is hardly possible to suggest anything which will prevent their occurrence. When they do occur, they usually clear up quickly if they are touched with a weak solution of silver nitrate.

The diet should be well-balanced, containing plenty of green vegetables, fresh fruits, meat, eggs and cereals. Six to eight glassfuls of fluid should be taken daily and plenty of rest should be obtained each night.

Now Procter & Gamble can tell the
of a modern washday miracle!

NO OTHER WASHING PRODUCT KNOWN CAN MAKE THIS STATEMENT
Tide
GETS CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP MADE
—yet actually
LEAVES COLORS BRIGHTER
TIDE'S IN-

IT'S TIDE
. . . you've never used anything like it!

The inside story of this postwar miracle begins back in the years of Procter & Gamble's wartime research. Out of the new knowledge gained in that research came Tide. Tide does what's never been done before—washes clothes cleaner than any soap, yet leaves colors brighter! Try Tide just once and you'll know it's entirely different! Tide's amazing suds look and feel different . . . and they billow up instantly, even in hardest water!

ONLY Tide DOES ALL FOUR!

1. Washes clothes cleaner!

Yes, cleaner than any soap! Nothing's too dirty for Tide! Even grease-stained overalls come so marvelously fresh and clean . . . cleaner than with any soap you've ever used, because Tide leaves clothes free—not only from ordinary dirt—but from gray, dingy soap film as well!

2. Actually brightens colors!

Prove it for yourself! Take that soap-dulled, faded-looking print . . . wash it in Tide's miracle suds . . . and see how much brighter it comes out! Tide is really safe for dainty washable colors!

3. Never "yellows" white things!

No matter how often you wash them, or how long you store them, Tide can't turn white clothes yellow . . . keeps them dazzling white, week after week!

4. Gives more suds—
Prove it in your dishpan!

Kind-to-hands suds! Longer-lasting suds than any soap in hardest water! Tide cuts grease like magic . . . washes dishes cleaner than any soap! No scum in the water! No cloudy film! That's why dishes and glasses rinse and dry so sparkling clear!

"IKE" GIVES NO CLEAR "NO"

Won't Say Definitely That He Will, Will Not Take G.O.P. "Draft."

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 — Whether Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would accept the Republican presidential nomination remained unanswered today despite the Army chief of staff's rap at "Draft Eisenhower for President" clubs.

In his fifth comment this year dealing with the 1948 presidential campaign, the 56-year-old general told a news conference yesterday he "deplores" the organization of clubs to work for his nomination and hopes "no one will be attracted into spending his hard-earned dollars or time on this."

But when asked what he thought of a Sept. 7 article by Roy A Roberts, president of the Kansas City Star, which raised the question of whether Eisenhower would run if nominated, the general replied:

"I'm going to be a party to no conniving and no one is going to run me. I don't see where a man has to cross a bridge and answer a hypothetical question"

This brought a comment from H. D Spalding, chairman and treasurer of the recently organized "Draft Eisenhower for President League" here, that his group is going ahead anyway.

"He still doesn't say no," Spalding told a reporter. "We are going ahead The league has now grown to such proportions that regardless of our own convictions it will go forward because it is too big to be stopped."

The Eisenhower news conference was held shortly after a letter by Alf M. Landon, 1936 G O P presidential candidate, to Columnist Raymond Moley regarding Eisenhower's availability for the 1948 nomination was made available to the press Asked whether he had seen a copy, the general said:

"I'm not aware of it. I met Governor Landon once What his ideas are I don't know. I've told people that when I get through being a soldier there is something else I want to do (evidently a reference to his forthcoming post as president of Columbia university).

"I honestly don't want to do anything else."

Moley had written Landon asking the former Kansas governor's estimate of the general's "chances" for the presidency.

William Myers, pastor, stated Printed song sheets will be furnished for the service

The evangelist for the campaign is Rev J. B. Myers of Celina, a former high school teacher

SUIT AT MARYSVILLE DELAYS HOSPITAL

By The Associated Press

BRYAN, Sept. 11 — The construction of a $360,000 hospital at Montpelier by a district composed of eight Williams county townships was delayed today by a suit pending at Marysville, O., to determine the constitutionality of the law permitting townships to unite to build hospitals.

The townships approved a bond issue in the election of May, 1946, but for the next year the court battle waged over the question of legality of the organization of the hospital board.

Common Pleas Judge A. A. Slaybaugh ruled the board legal, his judgment was affirmed in the court of appeals, and an appeal to the Ohio supreme court was dismissed. A quorum of board members met and approved sale of bonds for the hospital but now the project is being delayed because a Cleveland legal firm, Squire, Sanders and Dempsey, employed to approve the legislation, has not approved the sale because of the Marysville suit.

Fall Meals' Grand Finale

ORANGE CHEESE CAKE . . . Company dessert . . .

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS

Associated Press Food Editor

You've probably been having mostly fresh fruit dessert all summer and good they were, too. Now that fall is coming on, though, it's nice to dress up the end of the meal a bit. Here are a few suggestions.

Orange Cheese Cake

1 envelope plain unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup orange juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1-3 cup honey, 1 cup orange juice, 1 cup cottage cheese, put through sieve, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, ½ cup cream or evaporated milk.

Soften gelatin in ¼ cup orange juice. Beat egg yolk slightly, add honey, salt, and remaining orange juice. Cook egg mixture in top of double boiler until of custard consistency, stirring constantly. Add softened gelatin to hot custard and stir until dissolved. Add cottage cheese, lemon juice, and grated rind. Stir until well blended. Cool, and when mixture begins to thicken, fold in whipped cream or whipped evaporated milk and stiffly beaten egg white. Make crumbs for bottom and top of cake as follows: Crush nine slices sweetened Zweiback, or 1 cup of cornflakes or graham cracker crumbs. Mix thoroughly with ¼ cup melted butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons sugar and ½ tablespoon cinnamon. Place part of crumbs in bottom of small glass casserole which has been rinsed out in cold water. Turn in cheese filling and sprinkle remaining crumbs on top. Chill thoroughly until firm. When ready to serve, unmold onto serving dish and garnish with orange segments. Note: Milk may be used in place of orange juice, while corn syrup instead of honey, and grated lemon rind in place of orange.

Almond Prune Pie

3½ cups cooked prunes, 1 cup chopped blanched almonds, Baked pastry shell (10 inch), 1 cup liquid from cooked prunes, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1-3 cup granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon grated orange rind, 2 egg whites, ¼ cup granulated sugar for egg whites.

Slit prunges down one side and remove pits. Stuff each prune with chopped almonds. Place stuffed prunes in pastry shell. Combine liquid, cornstarch, 1-3 cup sugar, salt and orange rind in a saucepan and stir to blend. Bring to a boil and cook and stir until cornstarch is cooked (about 2 minutes). Pour over prunes. Beat egg whites stiff but not dry. Add ¼ cup sugar, a small portion at a time, beating well after each addition. Spread over pie. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes. Cool before cutting.

Avocado Simplicity Whip

1 cup avocado cubes, 1 package raspberry-flavored gelatin, 1 cup hot water, 1 cup cold water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, few grains salt, 1 cup whipping cream.

Cut avocado in halves, remove seed and skin. Cut into small cubes. Measure carefully so as not to mash fruit. Dissolve gelatin in hot water, add cold water, lemon juice, and salt, and chill until almost firm. Beat with rotary beater until light. Whip cream until thick but not stiff. Fold into whipped gelatin. Add cubed avocado carefully. Chill and serve.

Axis Satellite Treaties To Be Ratified Sept. 15

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 10—The British foreign office announced today the Allied peace treaties with the five former Axis satellite states would be ratified formally in Paris and Moscow Sept 15.

A foreign office spokesman said Russia, France and the United States all appeared agreeable to a British suggestion for the simultaneous deposit of instruments of ratification.

The instruments of ratification of the Italian treaty will be deposited with the French foreign office in Paris. The instruments for Finland, Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary will be deposited in the Kremlin.

Old Age Pensioners Reelect All Officers

Officers of the Old Age Pension society of Marion county, headed by Arthur Hershner, president, were reelected at a meeting Friday in the Eagles hall. Other officers are Reese Jenkins, vice president; Claude Crowley, secretary; and Christian Ruth, treasurer. The meeting started with singing of "America," and opening prayer was by Rev. Earl Carroll of the Silver Street mission, followed by the Lord's prayer in unison. Salute to the American flag was given. Rev. Carroll introduced Rev. Earl Wachenschwanz of Danville who has been conducting special meetings at the mission.

Rev. Wachenschwanz sang "He Ransomed Me," then took for his text the thirteenth chapter of Hebrews, thirteenth verse, "And make straight paths for your feet." He said in part, "God is still on the throne and concerned about the sons of men. I am speaking to a group of responsible people, not about your civic or business accomplishments, but about your position as the road and bridge builders for coming generations."

The choir sang a number accompanied by Mrs Herman F. Miers, and Mr Hershner read from the Flash, publication of the Townsend organization. Report on the sick was made by William Porter. A motion by Tom Manhart that old officers be reelected was carried.

A report on the recent convention of the Ohio Old Age Pension society held in Columbus was made by Mr Porter, William Sergent and Mr Crowley, delegates from Marion. Mr. Hershner attended a meeting of the state executive board of the society. It was reported that M J Berry of Mansfield was elected state society president, and Mr Crowley was named on a committee for revision of the constitution and by-laws. A considerable sum was reported in the state treasury. Principal speaker at the convention was a Columbus attorney, Jacob Claymon.

Mr Sergent and Mr Ruth sang a duet, and a song was presented by the choir. Closing prayer was by Rev. Wachenschwanz.

NEWSPAPER DEFENDS USE OF RACE STORY

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 11—The St. Louis Star-Times, advised that it was in violation of the postal fraud and lottery law for publishing last July a dispatch about a North Carolina Negro who was first denied a Cadillac automobile he won in a lottery, said today in an editorial it would continue to publish all such stories.

Postmaster Bernard F. Dickmann of St Louis said in a letter to the newspaper that the Star-Times and Time, Life and Newsweek magazines had violated the statute and that had the story been noticed at the time, it would have been barred from the mails.

"It is not a free press when any public agency attempts to tell a newspaper that it can not inform the public of discrimination against a Negro because of his race," the editorial stated.

The editorial, carried as an open letter to the postmaster, listed more than 50 large American newspapers which the Star-Times said had published the story and added that "a newspaper which believes in freedom, practices it."

The Star-Times said the same story was broadcast by radio stations from coast to coast and termed it an "absurdity for it to be legal to listen to such news and illegal to read it."

1,700 See Cubs Lose Benefit Game

Muncie Belts Bruins, 6-3, To Slice Into Second Place Lead of Locals.

By DON C. BURTON

The Muncie Packers cut the second place lead of the Cubs to five and one-half games with a 6-3 with at Lincoln park last night in the City hospital benefit game before an estimated attendance of 1,700.

The Packers who were in last place in July have now jumped to a safe third and are threatening the Cubs for second money in the playoffs. The post-season between the second and third place teams in the final standings will start Sept. 20 in the home park of the second placers.

Profits of the game last night go to the Marion City hospital. Though ticket sales fell below the 2,500 goal set by the game-sponsoring junior women's auxiliary of the Marion City hospital board, the benefit was considered most successful by chairman of ticket sales, Mrs. W. C. Kimball, of 298 South Grand avenue.

Jim Sabens held the Packers to nine hits while the Cubs garnered 12 off Dick Mix, but four double plays by the visitors along with some poor base running by the locals cut the scoring. Four errors by the Cubs including one by Sabens himself aided the Muncie run-making.

Grab Run In First

Muncie grabbed a run in the first inning without a hit when Holly Locke walked and went to third when Jim Forbes let a slow roller by Spike Foster go through his legs, sending Locke to third. With two away Locke and Foster executed a double steal plating the second baseman when Burbrink's throw was low at second. It was Locke's forty-fifth stolen base of the year which is tops in the league in the larceny department.

The Cubs three run all came in the first inning. With one out John Smith doubled and scored on a double by Dwight Maxhimer. Max moved to third on a single by Nelson off the glove of Ford at third. He scored on a grounder by Burbrink which forced Nelson at second. The Marion skipper tallied on a double by Bob Shuford.

Muncie tallied a single run in the second on a triple by Kirby and a long fly by Bill Ford. The Packers took the lead and the game with three runs in the fifth. With two away, Sabens fumbled a bouncer by Ford and then walked his opponent Dick Mix. Holly Locke who got three of the Muncie hits drove in Ford with a single and took third when Mel Nelson fumbled the ball which also let Mix tally. Locke scored when Lamont singled to right, with Shuford fumbling the ball.

The Packers got the last run in the ninth on a triple by Tom Florence and a double by Al Spaziano.

Dwight Maxhimer was presented a watch by little Miss Coletta Kerrey as a prize for winning the most popular player contest which has been running all season. After the award was presented Max kissed the little girl and then proceeded to get two hits and make one of his best catches of the season in centerfield. He went back to the wall in center to make a one handed running catch of a drive from the bat of Spaziano in the sixth.

Frank Smith was presented a $25 war bond by Robert White of the National City bank for the no-hit game he pitched here against Lima, Aug. 31.

The two teams are booked for a single game tonight and another tomorrow night. Bert Flamini is expected to hurl for the Cubs and Al Commalotti will work for Muncie.

3 SIX-MAN FOOTBALL SEASONS TO BEGIN

Prospect, Claridon, Caledonia To Open Friday.

Three Marion county schools open their 1947 six-man football wars tomorrow.

They are Prospect and Claridon, who will be matched against each other at Prospect, starting time 8 p. m., and Caledonia. Caledonia trips to Huron for its first game starting at 3:30 p. m.

Prospect will be coached by Glen Kessler, a Miami university graduate from Hamilton. He has been working a squad of 16 men and is building around four lettermen.

A. B. Augenstein, coaching Claridon, has only one regular back from last year. He is working a squad of 13. He expects to field a heavy squad.

Caledonia, which last year fielded the county's championship squad, again has a wealth of material on which to build. Ten of the boys out for the squad received seasoning with last fall's outfit. Three, Kenneth Comstock, Eugene Fleming and John Robertson, were regulars.

All three of the schools opening tomorrow are in the Double M league of Marion and Morrow county schools. The MM season opens a week from tomorrow.

The Caledonia schedule is Sept. 12, at Huron; Sept. 19, Johnsville; Sept. 26, at Claridon; Oct. 3, open; Oct. 10, LaRue; Oct. 17, Prospect, Oct. 23, at Chesterville; Oct. 31, at Prospect.

Irish Lighten Up On Rough Stuff As Friday Tilt Nears

Fearing scrimmage injuries to his reserve-light Irish football team, St. Mary Coach Gene Fetter passed by the rough and tumble this week, concentrating on defensive and offensive plays in preparation for the contest with Delaware Willis High school Friday night.

With 10 regulars in the starting lineup, but not much in the way of reserve strength, Fetter is sweating out injuries like the black plague as he points for the first Irish grid victory over the Delaware Panthers.

Starting Irish backs, wise to the deceptive T formation, include Dick Shuler at quarter, Bob Stuber and Ed Murphy at halves, and John Baldauf at full. Probable starting Irish line includes Jim Moloney and Tom Wagner at ends, Dick Werley and Gene Cooper, tackles, Kelvin Krigbaum and Joe Maniaci, guards, and Dan Smith at center.

"Baseball" Name Foes Come To Bat Today

By The Associated Press

LANCASTER, O., Sept. 11—Opponents of the name "Baseball" for the combined villages of Basil and Baltimore came to bat today as the common pleas case continued before Judge Earl R. Parker of Pike county.

Witnesses were summoned by the respondents attorneys after Judge Parker yesterday refused to dismiss the case on motion of the opponents.

Proponents testified for nearly two days before respondents presented two motions, one asking removal of testimony of several witnesses and one asking dismissal.

George Keel, Harding Backfield Coach, Owns 1st Rate Playing Record

If George Keel, spirited new assistant coach at Marion Harding High, can produce backfield men possessing just a fraction of the all-around ability he exhibited in high school and college, one of the best footfall teams in the school's history may be the very pleasing result.

It wouldn't be an exaggeration to say that Keel is a genuine once-in-a-lifetime athlete. His brilliant career at Kenton High school and Ohio Northern university is proof enough to back up such a statement.

What's more, George has achieved notable successes in the coaching field, having turned out a contender for the state basketball championship at Liberty township in Wood county five years ago and a well-balanced football eleven at Urbana High the following season.

Native of Kenton

Born in Kenton 29 years ago, Keel became a standout on his home town's high school football, basketball and baseball teams. He was a first-string back in football, covered the basketball floor as a guard and worked on the mound for the high school baseball club. He also served as manager of the track team.

Fans didn't see anything until Keel enrolled at Ohio Northern in the fall of 1937, following graduation from high school.

For three straight years, he was a regular on the Northern football, basketball and baseball teams. He won all-Ohio Conference honors all three years in both football and basketball. He quarterbacked the grid team, again was a guard in basketball and held down a regular pitching assignment with the Northern baseballers.

In Keel's three years with the football varsity, Ohio Northern placed second, third and fourth in the Ohio conference. In his sophomore year, George was a team-mate of his present boss, William "Pete" Howison, head Harding coach. Howison was then in his last year at Northern.

A Versatile Athlete

Keel didn't content himself with the three big competitive sports. He also went in for wrestling, boxing and swimming in a very big and successful way. For three successive years, he won the Ohio Northern intra-mural wrestling and boxing championships in the middleweight division. George managed to keep his weight around 157 pounds throughout his college days.

During the only year that Northern sponsored a swimming team, he captured top honors in the 120-yard relay and in certain diving events.

For his all-around athletic proficiency, Keel was accorded recognition in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," an annual publication of the University of Alabama. This book lists the names and records of American college students who are outstanding in both the athletic and academic fields.

Soon after graduating from Northern in 1941, Keel landed the position of head basketball coach at Liberty Township High in Wood county. His 1942 Liberty township cagers made off with the Class B district championship and were not eliminated from the state title picture until they had reached the second round of the regional tourney.

Keel spent the 1942-43 school year as head coach at Urbana High school, where his grid team won seven games and lost only two.

GEORGE KEEL

George served in the Navy 34 months before being discharged April 15, 1946. He held the rank of lieutenant, junior grade, and served for the most part as an armed guard officer aboard a Liberty ship in the North Atlantic convoys.

Last December, Keel was named basketball coach at Mecker High in Marion county and this summer made the switch to Harding.

In addition to handling the Harding backfield, Keel teaches classes in mechanical drawing and shop training at Vernon Junior High school.

He and his wife and 18-month-old daughter are currently living in Kenton but expect to move to Marion about Oct. 1.

Keel anxiously awaits the opening whistle of Friday night's season inaugural against Fostoria to see if the Presidents come up to his rather optimistic pre-season appraisal.

Pleased with Squad

Keel remarks: "The boys have been showing me a lot of stuff on the practice field. They are working hard and should win some ball games this year. What's more, we have plentiful reserve material to build a team around for next season."

"It's really a boost to be named to the position here in Marion. I'm especially impressed by the progressive spirit as exemplifed by the Football Betterment Program. It's really a good thing."

Double Main Event Plus Tonight

Marion wrestling fans have a double main event plus a special twenty-minute match for the opener. The first ninety-minute match of the most importance is the bout between Rufus Jones and Pavo Ketonen, the rough Finn. Fans have been asking for this match the past month. Both are listed as the roughest and both are head-butt artists. The other main event is between Gordon Hessell, the boy from Milwaukee with the perfect body and Billy Weidner, former holder of Al Haft's championship belt. Both boys are plenty fast and clever and the fans should see one of the fastest bouts yet seen at the armory.

The "special" twenty-minute opener at 8:30 is between two Toledo boys who want to get started in the professional part —Bob Curtis and Billy Wilson. Both weigh around 175 lbs. No advance in prices for this show. Call 2745 after six for your best ringside.—Adv.

Harding Hopes Grid Victory Drouth Will End Friday Night

Harding fans were looking at the football skies today and hoping that the long victory drouth for their favorites would end Friday night.

If the Prexies can turn the trick against Fostoria in the game at the stadium starting at 8 p. m. it will be the first President win since Ashland was humbled in 1945.

Coach "Pete" Howison has opined that Fostoria will be possibly the toughest foe his charges will meet this season. "If we win this one," he says, "there's no telling what we may do the rest of the season."

Prior to the opener, the squad appears to be the most balanced since the old N.C.O. days. It counts speed, weight and reserve strength among its virtues.

A scare was thrown into fans Tuesday night when Dick Gherman was knocked out in scrimmage and rumor spread that he might be out of the lineup. Word today, however, is that he will be ready to go

Card-Dodger Series To Open Today

Set Which May Decide National League Race Booked at St. Louis.

By The Associated Press

This is it. The payoff series between pace-setting Brooklyn and fast-moving St. Louis opens tonight at Sportsman's park with the Dodgers holding a shrinking 4½ game lead in the exciting National league pennant chase.

For all practical purposes the Cardinals must do or die in the current three-game set although the season does not end until Sept. 28. Eddie Dyer's Red Birds count on a clean sweep to pull the Brooks back within reach.

Time is fast running out on the defending champs who now have only 19 games in which to make their bid. But they are favored by a schedule that calls for 12 of those 19 at home while the Dodgers must struggle through 12 of their 16 remaining contests on the road.

Manager Burt Shotton has tried to manipulate his "thin" pitching staff with the idea of winning this all-important set from the Cards. He has nominated Ralph Branca to face Harry Brecheen in the opener. Branca, a 21-year-old righthander, has won 19 and lost 11 but he has lost three of his last five and has failed to go the route in five of the last seven.

Brecheen, the "hero" of the Cards' upset 1946 World Series triumph with three wins, won his 15th game in his last out, a 13-inning thriller over Cincinnati.

Shotton inserted Jackie Robinson in the cleanup spot yesterday at Chicago, indicating that he probably will do the same tonight. Robinson rapped Cub pitching for two hits in the Brooks' 5-1 success.

Cards Whip Phillies

The Cards banged out 14 hits off Dutch Leonard and Charley Schanz, scoring once each in the second, fourth, fifth and sixth innings after the Phils got to Al Brazle for an early run in the second for their only score in a 4-1 Cardinal triumph. It was Brazle's 12th win.

Ralph Kiner, closing in on New York's Johnny Mize in the home run race, hit his 42nd and 43rd as his Pittsburgh Pirates lost to the Giants, 3-2. Mize has 46.

Clyde Shoun, an old Cincy mate now hurling for the Boston Braves, shut out the Reds, 8-0, with five hits.

The New York Yankees, stung by insinuations that they are backing into the American league flag, bumped Cleveland, 7-4, while Boston bowed to Detroit, 5-0, to increase their lead to 12½ games with 16 to go. Any combination of six New York wins or Boston defeats will clinch the pennant.

St. Louis got tight pitching from Fred Sanford and five runs in the seventh inning to trample the Philadelphia A's, 8-2.

Walt Masterson stopped the Chicago White Sox with four hits to pick up his 14th win for Washington, by 3-1 score.

New Uniforms Fail To Arrive for Game

New football uniforms ordered by Harding High school in Marion have not arrived for the opening game, D. K. Bolyer, school athletic director, said this morning.

The manufacturer from whom they were ordered, had promised delivery by Sept. 1, he said, but was unable to fulfill its promise because of inability to obtain material.

They have told the school that the uniforms will be delivered before the second game, Bolyer said.

CLUB ARRANGES FOR CONCERTS

Business Women Plan Four for Fall Entertainment Season.

A series of personal appearance programs, new to Marion this year, is being introduced here for the fall entertainment season by the Marion Business and Professional Women's club. Featured will be artists under the Collins management of Rochester, N. Y., organization which is pioneering in the field of personal appearance entertainment in communities in the eastern half of the United States. The series has won acclaim in large cities as well as in smaller communities, the sponsors report.

Four concerts will be presented during October and November, all in the auditorium of Edison Junior High school. A ticket selling campaign will be opened by the sponsoring club soon.

First of the four events, Oct. 7, will be Musical Portraits, a novel known works of famous composers, by a group of four musicians and a dancer. This will be followed Oct. 21 by a program featuring Piero Pierotic, Dalmatian baritone who sang in concert, radio and opera abroad before his appearance in this country. On Nov. 4, Miriam Marmein, dancer, musician and designer, will present an original concert heralded as entertainment of "human appeal," and the final number of the series, Nov. 18, will be a new development in concert music, presentation of the Rizzo Accordion quartet.

With the purpose of proving that "families and communities profit by hearing together constructive entertainment features in the fields of music and drama," the organization of artists was formed a few years ago by the manager, G. LeRoy Collins of Rochester. In line with "sensing the need for this kind of community service," the Business and Professional Women's club has undertaken financial responsibility for promoting the fall series here. The campaign headquarters for ticket sales will be the Economy Savings and Loan Co. office, in charge of Miss Martha Fabian.

Artists for the first, Musical Portraits program, are John Hurley, tenor; Eleanor Warner, soprano; Elaine Mark, dancer; Boris Zlatich, violinist, and Stephanie Novicky, pianist. Colorful costumes will create atmosphere for the miniature operetta episodes accompanied by the melodies of such composers as Herbert, Friml, Romberg, Strauss and Kern, "something for every musical taste from sophisticate to layman." All of the four programs will fall on Tuesday evenings.

Committee Chairmen Named At Red Cross Directors' Session

Chairmen were named, reports on various activities given and plans discussed for the coming year's work at a meeting of the board of directors of the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross Wednesday at Hotel Harding. Mrs. Hamor announced that the Junior Red Cross committee is being organized and plans are under way for a dinner meeting to be held Sept. 29 when Miss Rosemary Forsythe, Junior field representative will speak to the committee, school superintendents, principals and teacher sponsors. The purpose of the meeting is to sponsor a better understanding and broader vision of the objectives of the Junior Red Cross.

AFL SETS LAST TRY FOR UNION WITH CIO

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 — AFL leaders indicated today they would make one more try at bringing about a merger with the CIO, but they held out little hope it would be sucuessful.

President William Green said both the AFL and CIO had agreed to work for organic unity when committees for the two organizations met in May. However, the AFL wanted immediate merger on its terms, while the CIO preferred to develop details slowly, while working together for common goals.

The 74-year-old AFL president has kept quiet about his plans for continuing in office, but the word is getting around among council members that he wants to be reelected at the San Francisco convention beginning Oct. 6.

Green has been president of the AFL since the death of Samual Gompers in 1924. A former secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, he was John L. Lewis' candidate for the post, and was instrumental in getting Lewis to bring the miners' back to the AFL in January, 1946.

Green and Lewis were at odds for 10 years after the United Mine Workers' chief organized the CIO and led the exodus of industrial unions from the craft-loving AFL. Later Lewis withdrew from the CIO which he founded, and now he is back on the influential AFL executive council, in a position to help dictate AFL policy.

Bids on Hospital Total Amount of Appropriation

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 11—The $1,700,000 available to the state welfare department for construction of a 500 bed hospital near Wooster looked very small today.

The amount was less than half the total of low bids opened yesterday for the proposed hospital at the Apple Creek school for the feeble minded.

Total of the low bids was $3,480,055 and for alternate methods with cheaper materials, $3,304,864.

Charles L. Sherwood, department director, said the department would "try to fit the buildings into the amount of money available" by changing designs.

The department said bids asked on the hospital and $1,250,000 of other contracts were "trial balloons to determine future disposition of the building plans."

The department had planned a $22,000,000 construction program.

University Presents Only Course of Kind in Ohio.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 11—The University of Cincinnati today announced a four-year-program in health education which a U. C. Spokesman said was the first of its kind in Ohio and one of the few in the United States.

The announcement was made by Prof. Helen N. Smith, head of the women's division of physical and health education at the university, who said the program, which leads to a bachelor of science in education degree had been approved b the Ohio department of education.

The health education program, developed under a grant from the W. K. Kellogg foundation at Battle Creek, Mich., will be offered by the U. C.'s department of physical and health education in co-operation with teachers college, she reported.

In addition, Prof. Smith said, the teachers college will offer health education as a "minor" field of specialization in the curriculum of future high school teachers, and both the four-year and "minor" programs will permit undergraduates, graduates and teachers to secure state certification in health education.

RECOVERY EXTENSION FAILS IN MARKET

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—Efforts to extend Wednesday's late stock market recovery encountered a little opposition today and, while assorted leaders managed to edge forward, many issues lost their buoyancy.

Dealings, active at the start, soon slowed but early gains of a point or so were maintained here and there near the fourth hour with prices inclined to stiffen in most departments.

Quiet strength was exhibited by such stocks as U. S. Smelting (on a raised dividend), American Woolen, Schenley, Publicker, U.S. Gypsum, American Telephone and Goodrich. The majority of steels, motors, rails and oils followed a narrow course. Occasional laggards included Santa Fe, American Can, Sears Roebuck, Westinghouse, International Nickel, Anaconda, Bethlehem and Douglas Aicraft.

PAPERS JOIN LOTTERY ISSUE

Wrangle with U. S. Over Right To Publish Stories with Unusual Angle.

(More on Lotteries on Page 22)

By The Associated Press

The post office department was embroiled in a controversy today over the question of whether there is any distinction between lotteries as such and those which involve unusual factors.

The issue was raised by local postmasters after the publication in the St. Louis Star-Times and the Baltimore Sun papers of stories growing out of lotteries in North Carolina and Peoria, Ill.

Both newspapers were "cautioned" that publication of the stories violated the postal fraud and lottery law. This law forbids the mailing of publications carrying lottery advertisements or news about prizes.

Had Race Angle

In the North Carolina drawing, a Negro who won a Cadillac car was denied the prize on the ground that the lottery was for white persons only. Subsequently, he received a sum equal to the automobile's purchase price.

The Baltimore case centered on reports of a drawing held by the city of Peoria, Ill., with a house as the prize. Baltimore Postmaster N. A. Sibley cautioned the Sun papers "against depositing such matter in the mails in the future"

Publishers Silent

Sun papers executives said they had not yet decided on a future policy.

But Jonathan Daniels, executive editor of the Raleigh, N. C., News and Observer, which first carried the North Carolina lottery story from Ahoskie, said his newspaper "will resist any interpretation of law which prevents the publication of legitimate news." He added:

"In the Ahoskie case this ruling x x x would have prevented disclosure of a discrimination which deserved correction and which, as a result of the publicity, was corrected"

In Washington, post office department officials said the letters like those to the Star-Times and the Sun papers are routine. They denied any "campaign" against newspapers carrying lottery stories.

They said they could recall no lottery case prosecutions of newspapers in recent years but added they would have no choice but to go to court if there was persistent and deliberate violation of the law.

Lewis Brinkman, Vern Powell and John Reed were to have been heard today on a citation by Judge Chester F. Pendleton who filed the action Sept. 5 after the commissioners refused to certify repair costs to the county auditor.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

My expectant look turned to surprise at Mary's question. I had thought she was too intent upon the studying of her lines to stop for anything.

But I kept my astonishment inside me, and spoke quietly.

"Anything I know I'll be glad to tell you," I said.

"You know this all right," she said. "Sit down over here near me, and we'll thrash the thing out."

I seated myself near her, and she leaned forward, looking at me intently.

"You said you told my papa-in-law off; told him something that was good for him to know," she began, and I caught a wary breath. How much did I dare tell Mary of the things I had said to Philip Veritzen?

Her eyes were brilliant now; piercing, and steadily fixed on mine.

"He was talking about Noel and me, wasn't he?" she queried most disconcertingly. "Wondering whether or not he ever was going to have any grandchildren, and if not, why not?"

I stared at her incredulously.

"Mary! Mary!" I exclaimed.

Take It for Granted

"Oh, I know!" she said. "I would have been hanged or burned at the stake in Salem two hundred years ago. Well, let's take that for granted, and pass on to the next question. Just what did he say to you, and—what's more important—just what did you say to him?"

There was no way out. I saw that, and I braced myself to tell her the story I already had recited to Katharine and to Dicky. But I also watched myself warily, lest I let slip the fact, which I never had acknowledged to her, that the bars which she now accepted as a routine precaution of my fathers, in reality had been put up to keep her from carrying out her mania of self-destruction.

When I had finished, a whimsical smile was playing around her lips.

"Let me get you straight," she said. "His first thought was horror and regret that he never would have a grandchild. Never a thought for Noel or me?"

Sardonic Smile

"Not that I could discover readily," I said dryly, and Mary's smile was sardonic.

"What a contradiction he is!" she soliloquized. "The greatest egoist living, and yet generous and tender to the extreme! But let me recapitulate some more, as the professors say.

"You told him very flatly that my reason for fearing motherhood was those inherited rages of Noel's. Then he told you that Noel's mother also had feared motherhood for the same reason, and then — Oh, darling Auntie Madgel—you knocked down his house of cards by telling him that those rages weren't inherited at all, but that he had inculcated the belief in Noel that they were, so as to bolster his own belief in his royal inheritance."

She stopped, and looked at me inquiringly, and nodded.

"And he didn't shrivel you to a cinder, or blast you right out of the room!" she said incredulously.

"I fancy he came near it," I said, "but he really took it very well."

"And you say he promised to get over to Noel the fact that those rages are not inherited but can be controlled?"

"He solemnly promised that," I told her, and she did not speak for two seconds.

Only One Thing

"That ought to help Noel a lot," she said. "And the poor boy worked hard at conquering them the year before I went away to the sanitarium. There's only one thing.'

"Yes?" I prompted, as she hesitated.

"With that out of the way," she said slowly, "Noel won't be able to see why we can't have a child rightaway—and—and—"

She buried her face in her hands, and a shudder ran over her.

I rose from my chair, and put my arms around her.

"Look here, darling," I said. "Tell me what's the reason for this.'

More Strange Quirks Of Nature Reported

This seems to be the year of strange nature happenings in and near Marion. Two more quirks of Mother Nature have been reported.

W. H. Rawlins of near Richwood reports that he has a three-year-old magnolia tree, three feet tall, with more than 15 blossoms. Magnolia trees usually come in bloom in the early spring.

At the Oscar Morral home in Morral, the family is getting quite a kick from watching a cherry and an apple tree pop out in bloom for the second time.

Part of the apple tree has fruit on it yet while the second blossoms are coming out. The apple tree had an abundance of fruit earlier and family members think a second fruit crop will be possible if the season permits.

The cherry tree was also loaded with fruit earlier in the season and now the second buds are to be seen on it.

Last week several Marion residents reported similar occurences.
